

County Will Cut Tax Rate by Fifty Per Cent

The Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors Tuesday voted unanimously to cut county taxes by 50 per cent.

The vote followed a meeting with department heads, all of whom agreed that "things have been getting out of hand and it is time some drastic steps are taken."

Vic Sauer, head of the department of public works, started the ball rolling by saying, "We have been spending too much on administrative detail and not enough on roads."

"AFTER CAREFUL inspection of each section of my department, I have discovered that I can reduce my staff by approximately 50 per cent and can turn out twice as much finished work."

"Furthermore, we have talked with the construction companies and are assured by them that all bids on county work will be substantially less in the future."

"Therefore, I am asking that you cut my departmental budget by 50 per cent for the coming fiscal year."

"These sentiments were echoed by each of the other department heads, and County Administrator J. P. McBrien said:

"FRANKLY, ALL our groundwork has paid off at one time.

With the new electronic brain installed we will be able to handle our paper work with a minimum staff, and we see no need for added expenditures in any field.

"Due to the excellent work by the district attorney, I have been informed that the county welfare department will no longer be a drain on the taxpayer.

"This was one of the major budget items, as you gentlemen are aware."

Meanwhile, it appeared that Contra Costa County has become the focus of national interest.

OTHER COUNTIES, when information of the action taken by our supervisors, launched a full-scale investigation of their own functions. This carried to the state level where Governor Brown said, "If Contra Costa County can do this, I assure you that the State of California can too."

There were indications that the federal government would soon follow in this direction, with the possibility that personal federal income tax would also be abolished next year.

The Sun was proud to be able to carry this story before any other paper in the nation. It was only able to do so because tomorrow is April 1. It couldn't be an April Fool's joke, could it?

A BRIDGE BONANZA, sponsored by the Glorietta Parents Club, will take place in several Orinda homes April 18, 19 and 21. Sessions are planned for morning, afternoon and evening. As an added attraction luncheon will be available in one of the homes. For reservations for bridge and/or lunch call Mrs. Robert Haring, CL 4-2739. Pictured practicing for the event are Mesdames Clinton E. Paine, hostess chairman; Stewart A. Crawford, general chairman and Mrs. Haring.

Area Gas Prices Hold the Line Again This Week

Gas prices in the local area continued to hold the line this week as the "war" entered its fourth week.

Regular gas was selling at 23.9 and 24.9 throughout this area with the independent stations cutting the price by one and two cents.

In Lafayette the asking price for regular at the major brand stations is 23.9 and 26.9, 27.9 or 28.9 for ethyl.

The same situation is true in Orinda with major stations selling regular at 23.9 and ethyl at 27.9 or 28.9.

In Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill, Alamo and Danville the asking price for regular at major stations is a penny more or 24.9.

Independents are asking 23.9 for regular. Ethyl is selling from three to five cents above the regular price.

The war started a month ago when Wilshire continued to sell its gasoline for two cents less than the asking price at major stations.

Sun Will Aid Fire District Purchase Of Equipment

The net proceeds from the present Sun subscription drive in Orinda will be turned over to the Orinda Fire Department for a piece of emergency equipment.

Orinda Fire District commissioners voted unanimously March 30 to accept the help of the community by this method.

Four resuscitators are now owned and used by the department. However, one of these is close to eight years old, still usable, but awkward to handle, particularly by one man at tempting to make a quick mercy dash up a flight of stairs.

Fire commissioners heartily agreed that additional emergency equipment is needed by the department, but it has not yet been decided which type will be of most benefit to the community. Under consideration are newer models of the present equipment in use in the district, and a smaller, lighter piece of equipment called a "pacemaker."

Manslaughter Trial April 28; Innocent Plea

A superior court trial on manslaughter charges filed against Mrs. Barbara P. Vendt, 42, of Walnut Creek, will begin April 28.

Mrs. Vendt pleaded innocent to charges resulting from the head-on crash death of John Corcoran, 35, of Walnut Creek, an insurance executive and father of five.

CHP officers said Mrs. Vendt was driving west in the east-bound lane of Diablo Freeway, early in the morning of February 16.

Mrs. Vendt waived a jury trial, and the entire testimony will be heard by a judge and reporters only.

Rapid Transit Is Membership Night Drawing Card

Rapid Transit, the why, what and cost, accompanied with slides and a man who knows the answers, is the topic of the general membership meeting of the Orinda Association scheduled for April 24.

Association directors urge that every Orinda resident circle this date on the calendar and plan to be present at the Orinda School, 8 p.m. on this date.

Bill Stokes, an Orinda resident, and transit director of public information will be the spokesman for Rapid Transit. The Orinda Association, recognizing that rapid transit routing through Orinda affects property owners and the tax dollars from those who are perhaps removed from the actual routing upheaval, has planned this program.

The Orinda Association is a central clearing house for all improvement association or homeowner groups in Orinda, according to the officers. They encourage membership of every resident, in order that the association may be truly representative of the people in Orinda.

Membership dues are $2. They may be mailed to Mrs. R. E. Haslam, 14 Ramona Drive, membership drive chairman for the Orinda Association.

PH Man Critically Hurt While Aiding Others at Accident

A Pleasant Hill state highway employee was critically injured Monday afternoon when he was struck by a truck while directing traffic after an accident on the freeway near Walnut Creek.

Robert Best, 43, of 536 Creekside and his passenger, Ray Peters, 30, also of Pleasant Hill, stopped to aid the persons involved in a collision on Highway 24 at the Mt. Diablo overcrossing.

Peters went for help while Best put out flares and waved a red flag to warn traffic of the tie-up.

Highway patrolmen said Best was hit by a small pickup truck driven by Terry Pickett of Concord. The truck also hit a car driven by Gerald L. Harrison of Concord, an employee of the Walnut Creek Doughnut Shop.

Athletic Director Tells Opinion of League Policy

By ERWIN MATTSON

(Mr. Mattson is Athletic Director of Acalanes High School. Here are his views on the Football League athletic program for the Sun—The Editor.)

Much has been written and said in regards to the cutting of the athletic schedules in the Foothill League to the point where it has become a rather touchy subject.

In such cases there are bound to be many differences of opinion and as always, when anything is repeated a number of times, a distortion of facts.

One of the reasons given for the cut was so that students wouldn't miss so much class time. The fact is that the policy as adopted some back provides that all spring sports after Easter vacation be played when the "teams get there."

This means, in effect, that no class time is lost as teams leave after school.

Some time is lost earlier due to the shortness of the day, but that is remedied as the days grow longer and is really eliminated as daylight saving comes in effect the end of this month.

The whole question revolves around what is a justifiable and just program.

Reference has been made to the fact that 170 or so athletic contests are held during the school year. This may appear startling until one really looks at it and then realizes the number of participants involved.

At Acalanes, between 400 and 500 students take part in athletics over the course of the year and the picture is pretty much the same at every school.

The problems in regard to athletic policy are numerous and the chances are that the athletic people are too close and the principals too far from the real picture.

One of the big problems as far as athletics is concerned is that the Russians fired Sputnik and threw America into an academic frenzy from which we have not fully recovered.

The emphasis has been placed more and more on the academic to the point where one might ask "are we perhaps over-emphasizing the academic to the detriment of the many?"

The truth of the matter is that not all students can be Phi Beta Kappas any more than can all students be top athletes.

This is the way of life and we are not going to change mother nature's plans.

True, we can make the most of a youngster's ability whether it is mental, physical or a combination of both by careful and judicious training, but anytime we go overboard one way or another we are getting into deep water.

Today, if ever, we need to keep a happy balance between physical and mental development.

Play is an important and necessary part of ones life just as is work. After all, the line between the two is very fine.

Playing a game of football or digging a ditch both use a great deal of physical energy, yet one is considered work and the other play which resolves itself in pretty much a mental matter.

The emphasis in school should certainly be on learning, but it should not be felt that the athletic field is a place of non-learning.

State Board to Consider Relaxing Visibility Rule

A proposed amendment affecting the regulation requiring 400 feet of clear visibility for school bus stops on the road will be submitted to the State Board of Education Wednesday in Sacramento.

It will be offered by Ronald W. Cox, assistant division chief of school administration. Pertaining to Section 1101, Stops, Title 5, California Administrative Code, the amendment reads:

"EXCEPT that when in the judgment of the governing board of the school district, it becomes necessary, for the safety of the pupils being transported, to establish a stop where there is a clear view of such stop of less than 400 feet in each direction, such stops may be designated with the approval of the California Highway Patrol.

"This is an emergency measure and becomes effective immediately upon passage."

J. Gordon Ainsworth, trustee, Orinda Union School District board, in referring to the proposed amendment, said, "If passed, this amendment will enable us to work out our Orinda school bus problem so that we can provide adequate and safe transportation for all of our children."

Ainsworth, along with Joe Sheaff, district superintendent, and Nathan Gray, chairman of the board, will go to Sacramento Wednesday to attend the meeting of the State Board of Education.

"WE WILL be there to present Orinda's case and lend our support to the amendment. We are concerned that should we not be present and the amendment ran into difficulty it might fail."

March 21 the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors adopted a resolution to request the State Board of Education make an exception to its 400-foot visibility rule. The supervisors directed District Attorney John Nejedly to prepare the resolution.

The resolution, prepared last week by the district attorney and sent to the State Board of Education, in essence asked that the board reduce the visibility requirements when the school requests it and the California Highway Patrol approves the request.

The amendment to be offered Wednesday by Ronald Cox will not affect the Motor Vehicle Code requiring 250 feet of visibility.

ROSS REAGAN, assistant superintendent for business, Acalanes Union High School, which provides school bus services to Orinda Elementary School District, said:

"The effect of this amendment would be to cut in half the number of bus stops we would have to eliminate. Hilly areas of the affected districts could have some bus service, rather than being entirely without it."

An explanatory statement accompanying the resolution received by Reagan pointed out that the problem had been discussed with the California Highway Patrol.

Agreement has been reached that, "relaxation of the 400 feet clear vision requirement in terrain of this sort is justified because the narrowness of the roads the curbs and the steepness result in the slow movement of traffic; "Transportation provided to reduce the amount of required walking on such roadways reduces the exposure of children to danger; the best way to administer the problem of school bus stops in such instances is through the approval of the California Highway Patrol."

The district covers an area of approximately 36 square miles, with an assessed valuation of $23,627,455, with an estimated population of 13,000.

THE DEPARTMENT responded to 454 calls in 1960, 109 more than the preceding year, 305 more than 1952. The greatest number of responses occurred in October with 49 calls.

Investigations and illegal burning far outnumbered all other types of responses with 57 and 52 calls respectively. The next items accounting for 45 responses and 30 responses were first aid and resuscitator calls.

Sixteen cats were assisted, one trapped owl rescued and nine snakes rescued (?).

THE FIRE Prevention Bureau conducted 2608 inspections, conducted school fire drills, gave home fire safety courses, school safety courses and did control burning in various areas of Orinda.

Personnel in a continuing program of training attended special classes and programs at the Naval Air Station, Junior College, Officer Training Workshop, Fresno, State Training Work Shop, Concord, planned control burnings and Fire-O-Rama demonstration.

My Pink Heaven

FOR MONTHS, I have been walking on a Pink Cloud. I didn't know my particular cloud WAS pink & granted, I may not have LOOKED like I was walking on clouds, but indeed I was!

What all started w/neighborly gestures of jars of dill pickles (& maternity smocks) left in the mailbox late summer by well-meaning friends was followed by an uncontrollable post-midnight craving for rice krispies snap-crackle & popping to awaken me from a mysterious somnambulant state that led me to the kitchen cupboards.

CONSIDERABLE GIRTH was added by a sudden passion for pumpernickle bread & pickled herring . . . & at one point, I was not surprised to find that I weighed exactly two lbs. less than that Kovacs character Ernie.

THE nicest nine months of my life brought our family a dividend on March 16. A little lass, all pink & white, who might have been made by the Irish fairies so like a mischievous-looking leprechaun is she! She missed St. Patrick's Day by one day, but we're calling her Erin nevertheless.

The children are delighted w/her (even our ten-yr. old has turned tender). Everyone rushes to hold her, hug her, but I have warned them to hold fast (like in football) for this is one thing, if dropped, that they can't apologize w/a mere "I'm sorry, Mom".

FULL OF LIFE . . . for making this such a wonderful time for this new "older mother", I'd like to say thanks . . . to the genial gentleman in Phair's who one day smiled & said—"You look like you think it's a WONDERFUL idea".

To Mary Martin's SOUND OF MUSIC record that had me yodeling (The Lonely Goatherd) & singing to High Heaven over my housework every day . . . I got in the habit of pushing the vacuum around to the song "I Am Sixteen Going On Seventeen" from same album & naturally, this made quite a picture to my offspring who greeted me w/"Oh, Mother!!" while rolling back their eyeballs in complete disgust. But try it next time you plug the vacuum in. It has a natural sweeper-swing to it!

I'LL NEVER FORGET doing the post-christmas sales w/my daughter, aged 11 . . . Wading, change that to waddling, through the aisles, I paused at a counter full of infants' sale clothing, picked up a few things & hesitated. My daughter nudged me knowingly—"You'd better wait, Mom . . . till you're REALLY sure!"

I'll chuckle everytime I think of that long afternoon at the ironing board & then suddenly overhearing my youngest say to my oldest, "Hey, Chip, is Mom a debutante?"

THANKS FOR THE MEMORY . . . Of a first gift for baby from that thoughtful gal Ally Rasmussen who is first w/Christmas card every season. If we were ALL like Ally! She's the kind who puts her friends' birthdays down on her new calendar the first of the year & then doesn't forget to LOOK!

THE BABY SHOWERS were my first ever & I'll never forget them . . . The blue tulle table decorated by June Jameson for the party at Marie Schilling's, the centerpiece a silver-sprayed bassinet that June "borrowed" from her own daughter's playroom . . . The pink & white ribbon roses fashioned into a corsage by Donna Stoy that are now adorning the big white wicker bassinet.

My psyche soared w/all the attention. I loved it! At Marian Long's, co-hostess Lucie Hupp, Marian, Millie Winfree & other good sports stuffed foam pillows under their aprons & at the doorway, a comical cartoon by Charlotte Chapple called "Stork Haven" . . . Thanks to Helen Drews who fashioned & frosted umpteen pink & white & blue bootie-cakes . . . To Jean Henderson who mimicked an expectant mother (Who, Me?) shopping & had us all laughing till our cheeks ached!

THE PIECE DE RESISTANCE at Pat Dildine's lovely no-hostess luncheon, (instigated by she & Natalie Williams), a shower cake in the shape of a beruffled bassinet (ala Blum's) being drawn by two elegant white swans, all this her Own Work Of Art, she being one of the students in that much-publicized cake decorating course! One of the swans, still intact, sits under a glass bell on the commode at home.

Stork Bites Maw . . .

A TOTAL SURPRISE the day I was invited for coffee to Evie Parker's & found a throne awaiting me not to mention a full-fledged luncheon cooked up by Evie, Char Chapple, Chris Lang, Sylvia Cox & more lovely dear people . . . Enconced in a comfy spot w/white satin ribbons suspended overhead that were inscribed "I Like It Here", I was presented the most lush pink lacy penguin that would make even Jackie jealous!

IF I HAVE A GOOD CRY one of these days, honest, it's not the post-baby BLUES. It's just that I feel so lucky to have so many nice people for friends . . . & a new baby!

THE FINISHING TOUCH came at the hospital amidst GREEN carnations, purple violets & pink baby roses. Barbara Tabler who entertains patients w/her guitar & folk-singing, serenaded The Monahans on St. Patrick's Day w/a delightful ditty called "Brian O'Flynn" . . . & my new "roommate Erin" & I had a real Birthday party w/Herrick Hospital's charming St. Patrick's touches to their menus & decor . . . someone even tried Tooraloorloora on the gong in the corridor!

A LITTLE BIT OF HEAVEN . . . It's wonderful to be home & to have had a quiet week to lavish love on our new lass & get better acquainted . . . Thanks to Pat Loughman, Kay Marshall & Isabel Heller who Mothered my other three for a whole week. As Dinah Shore would do at the end of her Sunday Show Mmmmmmm, To All of You!

Now really, I didn't mean to carry on so . . . MORE BABES IN ARMS . . . After four boys, a GIRL! The tiny newcomer at the home of Peg & Tom Mueller to be called Tracy. One look at that petite pink package in Peg's arms at a Miramonte meeting Mar. 15 & we came home & packed our bag for the hospital!

LITTLE GIRL PINK . . . for Gerry & Lois Pixley who welcomed a third daughter, Shauna Larkey, on March 21. 7½ lbs. Little Boy Blue . . . A bouncing NINE-plus pounder for Julie & Wilson Blake . . . thereby making grandparents of the Carl Wellington Smiths, Julie's parents, to the little fellow named Wilson Christopher.

MORE TAX EXEMPTIONS . . . slated for Sleepy Hollow Principal Cynthia Knox who expects her MOM degree in June . . . The Ross Van Dykes scheduled for an August addition, their 4th—& a FIFTH child for the Vic Anzilotti due in April. The Millard Simons, the Ollie Gardners more in the expectant ranks.

FRAME-UP . . . for Jill Miller browsing our favorite Pink Pony

Family of the Week . . .

WORKING WITH his wine press, Dr. H. Stewart Kimball is a man of many hobbies including gardening. The Berkeley physician and surgeon is chairman of the Orinda Civic Unity Committee, chairman of the Outing Committee for the Sierra Club of which he is a member of the board of directors and the father of four, and the "American" father of AFS-er Ann Blow of Austria who is living with the popular Orinda family in their Owl Hill Road home.

Author Prentiss Combs, now a Post-perennial, has a story in the Western mood in this week's SatEve issue.

COUNTRY CLOTHESLINE . . . Garden Club gal Shirley Crawshaw sporting a smart citron yellow & grey hooded parka topped with a yellow plaid wool skirt & perfectly matching yellow kid pumps!

BY THE WAY, we hung out our huge Mexican paper STORK bird (given to us by John & Pat Bertrand) & you know what? NONE of the neighborhood kids could figure out "what kind of a crazy bird" it was. How times have changed & that will remind PG librarian Inez Maeshner of a very cute story if you ask her!

NO TAX EXEMPTION on the Chas. Reid's new family member—"The Hardy Yare Har", a nifty nautical craft that celebrated its Birthday party at the Richmond Yacht Harbor March 18 & 19. A Seuss-type stork proudly announced their new arrival—Length: 30 feet; WEIGHT: 12,000 pounds; PARENTS: (ouch!) Charlie & Emorie Reid, SAIL AREA: (here, a diaper) 410 feet . . .

MAYTEN BRANCH members were lucky that their Children's Hospital benefit "Gateway To The Orient" fell on Sat. March 18, the eve between the two storms . . . The William Land residence on Seaview Ave. in Piedmont (a magnificent old manse) was the setting for their 4-8 party & fortunately, there was no need to check umbrellas or wet raincoats!

Guests gravitated between the lovely terraced gardens admiring the orchid displays to the spaciousness of the three-story house . . . The host William Land & his bride, the former Helen Wright of Pied., had just returned the previous Monday from a honeymoon & were the center of good wishes from the guests.

THE AUTHENTIC oriental decor was the labor of love of Claire Simpson who attended the affair w/her husband Jack. Claire, who will greet a new family member late May, was deceptively Voguish in a white brocade boasting a matching mandarin coat . . .

Ed Patterson played his part to the hilt . . . Wearing a judo suit, a coolie hat, thong sandals & sporting his usual six-foot plus stamina, he met the guests, piled them into the Ricksha & rode them merrily to the house.

FLOWERING Cherries lined the garden walk & at the entry, a red Torii Gate for more decor . . . A mellow oriental gong getting the BONG more frequently by departing guests than by arrivals . . . ## July 25 Slated As Camino Pablo Completion Date Camino Pablo School should be completed about July 25, a spokesman from Pagni Construction Company told the Moraga School Board at a special meeting Monday night.

A two month delay beyond the original June 1 completion date was caused by rain and mud which hampered operations, according to the company.

IN OTHER ACTION, the board decided to seek outside assistance on an imminent school personnel study.

This study is to ascertain the personnel needed for Rheem and Camino Pablo schools for 1961-62.

The board wishes to obtain the recommendations of an outside-district study group, such as the county, the University of California or Stanford University.

PRESENTED to the board by Rheem Principal C. E. Toll were recommendations from the district audit report. The audit report was made recently to the board by Stanford White, district auditor. The board considered the following:

It was proposed that a revolving cash fund, in lieu of petty cash, for $200 be established in the 1961-62 budget.

This would be a checking account for small items which come up unexpectedly. Such a fund would reduce time and paper work.

A school inventory for school and operational supplies should be made at the end of the school year at each school. At present an inventory is made in February only.

It was recommended also that the cost of having a professional value inventory made of school property and equipment be ascertained.

A school official will discuss this matter with a San Francisco firm and will report the findings to the board.

Keeping the district records at the district office for use of the district superintendent also was proposed.

Proposed Apartments Unanimously Opposed

Directors of the Orinda Association, meeting Monday night at the Orinda Community Church, voted unanimously to oppose the request of Joe Smoot and Joe Duffel to rezone property of Camino Encinas to MRB.

Association president, Bruce Toward, instructed the association to write a letter indicating the association's opposition to the rezoning request to the Contra Costa County Planning Commission.

A hearing on the Smoot-Duffel rezoning request is scheduled for April 4 in Martinez. Association planning committee chairman Richard Bartle and Eric Nielsen, association vice president, will represent the Orinda Association at the planning commission meeting.

IN ADDITION to the association representatives at Tuesday's hearing, members of the Encinas de Moraga Association will also be present at the planning commission hearing to voice their opposition.

Action came from the association after Bartle submitted a written report from the planning committee which had voted unanimously to disapprove the rezoning after a long meeting spent deliberating the aspects of multiple dwelling at number 12 Camino Encinas.

The planning committee report included the following four points:

"The present use of the lots proposed for rezoning is suitable use and single family residences on those lots are in no way detrimental to the community. Apartment development appears imminent on the so-called Underwood property. The committee was not persuaded that the Orinda community needs more multiple family housing now than will be available on the Underwood property."

"THE COMMITTEE noted that the proposed plan for development submitted by the applicants does not officially become part of the rezoning and that the committee would have to depend on subsequent public hearings under the Suburban Apartment Building Group regulations of the zoning ordinance to maintain its desired standards."

"While the committee was inclined to believe that suitable standards could be worked out with Duffel and Smoot and that they would be adhered to in the development, the committee felt it had insufficient assurance as to the standards of development which would be applicable on the adjacent Muhs property."

"The committee was of the opinion that the Muhs property could have the same zoning as the Smoot-Duffel parcel if any change is made at this time."

"REZONING at this time would, in the committee's opinion, leave the community vulnerable to a development on the Muhs property which would be of higher density than desired and with inadequate other controls if rezoning were approved. (Note: The Muhs property is a lot adjacent to that under consideration on Camino Encinas.)"

Two other factors were noted by the planning committee. One was inadequate off-street parking, the other, tentative approval was given to the Underwood rezoning motivated by a feeling that Orinda should be offered the opportunity to evaluate the impact of multiple-family housing and that the Underwood property was a suitable location for such a test. It is apparent that development on this site will proceed soon, according to the association committee. Therefore they "desire the opportunity to evaluate this project before approving additional rezoning for multiple family use."

THE ASSOCIATION planning committee report continues, "Items to be evaluated include not only the impact of multiple housing after it is built, but also the attitude of the County Planning Commission in enforcing high standards of development." Smoot and Duffel plan an 11-unit apartment of two and three-bedroom units, designed for older retired couples who would like to remain in Orinda, even though the need for their large homes for family living no longer exists.

Cousin of Griffiths Culver Dies

Surviving Susan B. Culver, a retired Oakland school teacher, is Griffiths Culver of Orinda. He is the cousin of Miss Culver.

Miss Culver died at her home on Fernwood Drive in Oakland recently. She taught in Oakland schools since 1898 until her retirement in 1941. She was born in 1875 in San Francisco and graduated from the University of California in 1897.

Pounce, Crunch . . . and Down Came Toby!!!

Bats in the belfry? No . . . Cats in the attic, yes! But cats, unlike bats, have no wings, which sometimes proves unfortunate.

Take the experience of Toby, a fat cat who keeps the Orinda Community Church free of mice. Toby met with a catastrophe a few days ago.

While stalking a mouse in the attic of Fellowship Hall, he pounced a bit too hard and went right through the ceiling.

Reports say he is a little lame, but seems to be making a normal recovery. As one observer remarked, "It's fortunate the bridge group was not in session."

Kindergarten Registration Is Scheduled

Registration for all children in the Orinda Union School District who will enter kindergarten or first grade in September for the first time will be held April 13 and 14 at all elementary schools in the district.

Registration will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Children who have attended kindergarten in the Orinda Union School District need not re-register for first grade.

Under section 5254 of the Education Code, a child must be at least four years and nine months old on September 1, 1961, to enter kindergarten in the fall of 1961.

This means that a child must have been born on or before December 2, 1956, in order to be accepted for enrollment in the kindergarten in any public school in California.

A child must be at least five years and nine months old on September 1, 1961, to enter the first grade in the fall of 1961. This means a child must have been born on or before December 2, 1955, in order to be accepted for enrollment in the first grade in any public school in California. It is essential that birth certificates be shown at the time of registration. Parents are also asked to bring their children's records of inoculation and names and telephone numbers of the family doctor and the name of a neighbor who may be notified in case of an emergency if the parent cannot be reached.

Recommendations Given For Selection of Movies

Here again is a list of movies with recommendations as prepared by the Film Estimate Board of National Organizations. Symbols used are: A, adults; MY, mature young people; Y, young people; F, family and C, children unaccompanied by adults.

CRY FOR HAPPY—A-MY

This involves four members of a Navy camera crew lodged in a geisha house in Kyoto during the Korean war. The geishas are pretty, winning and extremely virtuous.

DONDI—F

Derived from the syndicated comic strip "Dondi," these adventures of a five-year-old Italian waif retain a "funny paper" quality.

FIVE GUNS TO TOMSTONE—A-MY-Y

Double-crossings all around lead to the chases and fights usual in a little run-of-the-mill western.

FLAMING STAR—A-MY-Y

Elvis Presley sings only twice in this western, but has considerable demands put on his acting ability. The settings and scenery are remarkably effective.

FRONTIER UPRISING—A-MY-Y

The unpretentious, conventional western provides a satisfactory amount of vigorous action and excitement.

LITTLE SHEPHERD OF KINGDOM COME—F

The pleasant, folksy tale has been nicely mounted, and sets up a good contrast between the elegance of Lexington and the homely comforts in the hilly settlement of Kingdom Come.

MARRIAGE-GO-ROUND—A

OPERATION BOTTLENECK—A-MY

A small American Air Force demolition squad is parachuted into Burma during World War II. In spite of its inconsistencies and general mediocrity, the melodrama achieves a fair amount of suspense. It comments on the wastefulness of war.

PEPE—F

This happy, handsome romp depends largely on the charm of Mexican wonder clown Cantinflas. Bright hot colors point up the scenic backgrounds of Mexico and Southern California.

WHERE THE BOYS ARE—A-MY

The quiet southern paradise of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, undergoes an invasion during the fortnight of Spring vacation by several thousand college students seeking sun, fun and romantic experiences.

WIZARD OF BAGHDAD—F

Done in Arabian Nights style, this broad, funny fantasy is aimed at a wide range of audiences. Comedian Dick Shawn is comical as the wizard of Baghdad, whose valiant efforts to reform himself change him from a disgrace to his profession to a five star genie.

Cards Verboten!

BY EDITH BRADY

Card playing on the Diablo Valley College campus is against campus rules. Yet recently several students have been playing cards there.

DISCIPLINARY action, suspension or dismissal from the college, is the penalty for violating this rule.

Verle Hendstrand, dean of student personnel at the college, said that the rule is not new, but was adopted as far back as the early fifties.

He said that this rule forbidding card playing on campus was made because it was a non-residence campus and there are no supervised recreational facilities.

THE FUNCTION and role of DVC is educational and it is not equipped to provide recreational facilities unless they are supervised, structured, co-curricular activities, which are a part of the educational program, he added.

At a residence four-year college, where recreational facilities are provided and students spend more time on campus, card playing is permitted.

CARD PLAYING takes up time, on the local campus, that should be used for studying in the library, Hendstrand said.

It also takes up space in the cafeteria which is an already overcrowded eating facility, he added.

Hendstrand said that where there are cards, regardless of whether the game is "old maid" or poker, there is gambling. This is the major reason for the rule.

SO FAR THERE have been no dismissals or suspensions for card playing. The students who were recently involved in it were warned against card playing on campus and apparently observed the warning, Hendstrand said.

He said when the rule is violated the occurrence is looked into in case the students involved don't know about the rule. "After a warning they usually don't do it again," he added.

HENDSTRAND SAID that card playing "is not a bad thing" when it has supervision but it "creates a bad climate" when it has none.

A bridge club, which would be under supervision of organized campus clubs, is in the thinking stage.

Hendstrand said that a bridge club could be proposed to the administration and that the administration would consider it.

The college already has a chess club and chess playing is permitted in the student lounge.

How to Employ Severely Disabled Heard by Council

Employment possibilities for the severely disabled were discussed at a meeting of the Contra Costa Rehabilitation Council last week.

"The Contra Costa Rehabilitation Council is a county-wide committee made up of representatives from health and welfare agencies interested in bringing rehabilitation services to those who need them," Mrs. Adams said.

"Through the efforts of the council, an evaluation and referral service has been organized and staffed, and is now operating in offices donated by the County Hospital in Martinez.

"This service is supported by a federal grant from the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation and by local agencies concerned with the rehabilitation of the handicapped," she said.

Passover Begins At Sundown; Service Tonight

Passover, "The Festival of Freedom," with its colorful ceremonies that mark the flight of the Israelites from Ancient Egypt as related in the Book of Exodus begins this year at sundown tonight.

The most singular feature of the Passover holiday which is observed seven days by Reform, Conservative and Orthodox Jews all over the world, is the Seder. This is a home worship service where the table is set with foods and objects that symbolize the deliverance of the Jews from Egypt.

Rabbi David Robins, Cantor Henri Goldberg and the Center Choir will officiate at a special Saturday morning service at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Contra Costa Jewish Community Center, 3800 Mt. Diablo Blvd., Lafayette.

A special memorial or "Yizkor Service" will be held April 7 at 8:30 p.m. with the rabbi, cantor and choir officiating.

Athletic Director Talks About Sports Policy

because nothing would be farther from the truth. No solution that would ever be arrived at would be accepted by all, human nature being what it is.

The important thing is that each should have a right to voice their opinion and at the same time respect that of others.

The "athletic bum" is a relic of the past as the athlete today must attain specific scholastic requirements in order to take part in the program.

The question becomes one of how much athletics should be a part of school life.

Most feel that the Foothill League had a well balanced program with a minimum of classroom interferences.

The problem in many respects is one that will never be completely resolved as it is a matter of personal opinion. Like homework its a question of how much and how often.

To many the athletic program should be expanded and to others it should be curtailed.

Physical fitness is an important part of our lives and the President has called attention to it on a national basis. This immediately calls for a wide program which will get everyone into the act.

The fact remains that not all are interested in, or want to take an active part in such a program.

There are those whose nature, makeup and skills demand and want competitive athletics just as there are those who have a great thirst and drive for academic knowledge.

Each group is important and each has something to contribute. To satisfy the desire and needs of each is important to the physical and mental well being of the country.

It all boils down to the fact that each is doing and arguing for what he thinks is the right path to take.

There are differences of opinion, but isn't this a natural and healthy situation?

It is a question of taking the high road or the low road when in reality the middle road is probably the best.

Travels, Parties Occupy Vacationing Students

By CAROL PEDERSEN and SUSAN COX

Easter Cheers!! From one personality to another: "I hope you like hard boiled eggs . . . a rabbit just stopped me and asked where you live! If not . . . have a Happy Easter anyway."

Distant travelers are Joyce and Sherry Odenthal who left last week for the white beaches and blue waters of Hawaii where they will enjoy surfing parties, luaus, and the scenery which we are sure they will find most fascinating.

Los Angeles bound are Linda Barges and Carol Goldsmith who are spending the week in Palm Springs and Balboa enjoying the enchantment of the famed island and all it has to offer. Linda is spending the vacation visiting with Adele Brodinski while Carol passes the week with friends from her old home town.

Also Sue Campbell is enjoying her vacation in L.A. while Merilee Snell is visiting old acquaintances in Long Beach and Carol Crosby, a new member to the Miramonte Senior Gang, deserted Orinda for her Riverside friends; only for a few days we hope!

CARMEL BOUND this last week were John Walker, Rick Layne and Mike Calhoun. They took off with all other males in California to take part in the mass occupation of Carmel for the purpose of sightseeing and enjoying extra curricular activities.

The members of the Young Life Club enjoyed a weekend of fun in the sun at Mount Hermon down in the Santa Cruz mountains. A wonderful time was had by all as there were games, songs, inspirational messages with something in them for everyone, and new friendships formed.

Vacationing here at home Cinda Snell and Bob Ellermyer took a trip to San Francisco last Saturday. While there they visited the Tea Gardens and other wonders of Golden Gate Park and then on to dinner and the excitement of touring through the city on a heavenly, star-studded night.

TEENERS were busy here at home last Saturday with an open house party given by Joan Eberhart for friends from Miramonte, Las Lomas and Acalanes. Dancing, Snacking and Chatting were the chief pastimes of the evening. Friends from Berkeley were also present to participate in the evening's activities.

Sherri Sage gave a surprise birthday party for Judy Lucas last Friday night and Bob Clifford's "Tiki-Bob" roadster seemed to be the main attraction of the evening.

The other half of the male population of California seems to be heading for Balboa for another form of mass occupation. Among those southward bound are members of Miramonte's 1960 Alumni-Corbett Kroll and Squire Fridell.

It seems that Jack Gilbert has been seen around town lately sporting a '39 black Ford. We hear that it's being christened sometime in the near future with a short try-out in the Miramonte quarter other owners of ancient vintage stock.

New Slenderizing Salon Opens Doors Monday

"Femme Fatale" is the name of a new slenderizing salon which will open Monday at 19 K Orinda Way.

Owned by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sullberg of 1 Rich Acre Road, Orinda, the new salon will be managed by Mrs. Sullberg, who has had several years experience in the slenderizing business with a Berkeley salon.

THE DECOR of Femme Fatale will be as pleasing to its patrons as the lovely new figures they can acquire there, according to Mrs. Sullberg.

Phil Wendall of Orinda Furniture is doing the decorating, using a French motif with colors of burnt orange, moss green and white. Soft music will soothe and relax patrons and coffee will be served whenever it is desired.

Calling her salon the "feminine way to slenderize" Mrs. Sullberg explained the methods used are entirely effortless. A mechanical table does the work, while the patron relaxes completely. The table was designed particularly for the purpose of slenderizing at a leading university.

MRS. SULLBERG said women need not disrobe to use the table. Femme Fatale will be open Mondays through Fridays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Appointments are necessary, but no contracts are involved. Patrons will be measured after every five treatments and weighed after every third visit.

Realistic menu planning accompanies the slenderizing program. Women who wish to regain their figure effortlessly after childbirth will delight in the program at Femme Fatale. Older women, and those with poor circulation, will find that the process stimulates circulation, tones and firms the flesh.

Even women with no figure problem will enjoy the treatments, Mrs. Sullberg remarked, and find that in addition to a sense of general well being, that their posture is improved.

The phone number is CL 4-0650.

Acalanes Senior Studied Semester in Germany

By JEAN JERNIGAN

One of the first AFS students to live and study abroad during the school semester, rather than the summer months, Marsha Bratten of 723 Glenside Circle, had the privilege of spending Christmas with her "adopted" family.

Marsha stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Heinz Leinder at Hanau on the Main River. The Leinders have a daughter Julia, 17, and a son Matthias, 6. Mr. Leinder is an accountant for the Railroad Company.

FAMILIES are matched almost as carefully in the AFS program as they would be if the "adoption" were going to be permanent. Marsha's case was no exception, she was 17 at the time of her visit, and has six year-old brother.

Marsha learned June 10 after weeks of competition, interviews and careful screening that she would go to Germany. During the weeks of anticipation prior to her departure August 22, she corresponded with her German family, who she described as being very much like happy, close families here in the United States.

Marsha, who has studied German for three years did not have too much of a language problem. "My family was very patient with me when I arrived," Marsha recalled, "and they spoke slowly, even my little 'brother' Matthias."

"AT FIRST I was rather quiet," she continued, "just listening and learning. They teased me a little about it, and pretty soon I was talking as much as I ever do."

Marsha attended a girls' school where she took 12 subjects, not unusual for school in Germany, where most students study 15 subjects during a school term.

"They don't take all 15 subjects everyday," Marsha explained, "but some courses are twice a week, some three times a week. By the end of the week all 15 have been given. The school day begins at 8 a.m. and continues to 1 p.m. Periods are 45 minutes long and there are two breaks for snacks. We had our regular meal after returning home from school."

"GERMAN students start earlier with languages, than we do here," Marsha continued. English is taught at the fifth grade level. The school that I attended was a preparatory school, grades five through 13. The students are channeled to different schools according to their ability, determined by examinations while in preparatory school."

Marsha took math, physics, history, social studies, geography, music, art, religion, sports, German, English and French. "French was taught almost entirely in French," she remarked, "and the language of math and physics is universal, so I did not have any great difficulty with learning in a foreign language."

German families decorate their trees on the day of Christmas Eve, and the father does the decorating, Marsha reminisced. She added that real candles are put on the Christmas tree, but explained they are only lighted at a certain time, when everyone is present. Gifts are exchanged Christmas eve, and are left unwrapped.

New Year's eve is celebrated much the way it is here, Marsha said, but with the added attraction of firecrackers and lots of fireworks at night.

MARSHA, an honor student at Acalanes, has won several scholastic honors since her return from Germany January 28. The 18 year old senior hopes to attend the University of California to study meteorology and continue to study German . . . and, last but not least, she looks forward to the time when she may return to Germany and see her "family."

Nearly 2000 volunteers took part. Gifts were made by alumni and parents of students. This was the 25th appeal made since the fund was created by the Stanford Associates, a volunteer group assisting the university in fund-raising efforts.

Hats Off To...

Don Hartsell Whose Skill Creates Musical Toy

A PEAL OF CHURCH BELLS . . . for Don Hartsell, Minister of Music at Orinda Community Church, whose warm personality and broad musical background proved an unbeatable combination in his expert direction of the 40-voice church choir and an 18-piece orchestra which together presented the inspirational "Seven Last Words of Christ" by Theodore Dubois to an overflowing crowd last Sunday.

TO CONDUCT both vocal and orchestra groups in the hour-long cantata was no small job for the recent newcomer who moved to this area last fall. He rigorously rehearsed the orchestra, the choir and the soloists to a flawless performance bringing to the audience as well as the participant, a rich and rewarding experience of the traditional Easter music.

We pay tribute to Mr. Hartsell, teacher of organ and piano, a director of children's choir. He typifies the many choir directors in our area who bring us the joy of inspirational music.

Ford Honors Local Salesmen

Four Lafayette Ford car and truck salesmen were presented Ford Motor Company's 300-500 club award at a recent banquet in San Francisco honoring high-ranking Ford dealership car and truck salesmen of 1960 in the San Jose sales district. James A. King, district sales manager, said 300-500 club membership awards are presented for excellent retail sales performance. The Ford 300-500 club was founded in 1950 to recognize the performance of outstanding Ford salesmen throughout the country. King added that the average 300-500 club member sold nearly $400,000 worth of automotive merchandise in qualifying for the national honors. 300-500 club members in Lafayette are: George Valente, Dan Cowherd, Louis Geissler and Roy Pasquini of Lafayette Auto Sales Co.

Sanitary District To Buy, Sell Land

The Central Contra Costa Sanitary District Board will take action at its meeting Thursday, to sell nine acres fronting on the Arnold Industrial Highway and east of Grayson Creek which do not fit into future plans for expanding the Treatment Plant on the west side of Grayson Creek. It is expected that approximately six acres will be sold to the Flood Control District for creek improvement, leaving a balance of approximately 3 acres to be sold.

The Flood Control District indicated a desire to buy the land at its meeting Tuesday.

The district board will also be taking action on the purchase of approximately 13 acres lying to the north of the present site for future expansion.

Appraisals have been obtained by the District and negotiations have been under way with the adjoining property owners for the purchase and sale.

The 13 acres which the district will consider for purchase are a portion of the 105 acres the district has had under lease since 1947 and used for Oxidation Ponds. This lease will be terminated April 30.

Treated effluent from the Treatment Plant is now deposited in the deep water of Suisun Bay through the Outfall Sewer recently completed.

Spraying Starts For Local Pear-Juniper Rust

Spraying of juniper plants for the eradication of pear-juniper rust in the Lafayette district of Contra Costa County has been started by the Contra Costa County Department of Agriculture cooperating with the Bureau of Plant Pathology, California Department of Agriculture. All junipers in the quarantined area will be sprayed with Actidione (cycloheximide) and the work is expected to be completed by the end of March. Contra Costa County Agricultural Commissioner Arthur Seely reported February 21 that juniper and tam junipers, growing in a mixed planting where infected pear trees were found in 1960, showed suspicious looking pustules or swellings.

EXAMINATION of this material by plant pathologists of the California Department of Agriculture confirmed the presence of the rust on juniper in the early stage of development, thereby completing the life cycle of the rust in the area. Bureau officials said that this rust appears on pear twigs and foliage in the late summer, then occurs on junipers in late February. The cycle of infection is from pear to juniper to pear. Further examination of the immediate area revealed one additional infected juniper planting. This is the first time the rust has been reported on juniper and pears in the United States. The disease causes serious damage to pears in Europe.

All infected juniper twigs, branches, and shrubs have been removed in order to assist in the eradication of this rust. Examination of the junipers for rust is being continued as the junipers are being sprayed.

Mrs. John Shaw is president of the group and Mrs. Darlene Frank is social chairman.

The group will make plans for a May meeting tour of St. Margaret's House in Berkeley and the True Sunshine Mission in Chinatown, San Francisco; both groups are sponsored by the Episcopal church.

Shell Promotes J. R. Morrison

J. R. Morrison, Lafayette, manager of Shell Development Company's Emeryville Laboratories, has been appointed assistant manager of Shell Oil Company's personnel department in New York, Shell officials announced today.

Morrison came to Emeryville Research Center six years ago. During that time he guided the research center through the biggest expansion program in its history. The expansion doubled the size of the center, both in land area and in laboratory and office space.

Starting his career in the research laboratory of Shell's Houston, Texas, refinery where he became a senior research chemist, Morrison turned to personnel and industrial relations work in the 1940s. Prior to his assignment at Emeryville, he was assistant manager of Shell's industrial relations department in New York. He will take up his new duties about April 1.

New Neighbors Arrive; Houses Fill Vacant Lots

By YVONNE MAUZEY
DR 6-4083

Pitter Patter, rain drops on my window sill, huge white balls of cotton scurrying across the sky, echoing the white puffs of cotton that are the spring blossoms on the pear trees.

Of all the seasons I like spring best with its new growth, delicate green leaves and promises of things to come. The vacant lots are growing new homes as fast as the trees are blossoms. The vacant houses are filling with new residents to explode the population of our area.

I hear Utah has sold the area across from Miramonte for a cool one and a quarter million, to the builders of this area. This will add new homes and more population and plans for another school. Also a new Presbyterian church to be built in this area.

THE TED GILLS' are new neighbors of the Harold Drive area. They have bought the Fraziers' home and have a daughter, Carol, two and a half. I also have new neighbors, Lynn and Pete Sullivan and their 8-month-old baby. Welcome to you all.

I see Susan Pagliero has a new horse and can be seen riding most every day rain or shine. Susan got the horse for her birthday. Have you noticed Moraga has a new reporter to cover the school board meetings? She is Carole Good of The Sun reporting for our area.

Be sure to attend your next Parents Club meeting. There will be a man from the Orchard Nursery to talk on gardening and the candidates who are running for the school board have been invited to meet the people and vice versa.

The cooperative art class will hold an exhibit May 12 and 13. May 12 hours are 3 to 5 p.m., May 13 to 4:30 p.m. at the Rheem Estate. Every child will have an entry in the exhibit.

Brenda Bradley announced at the last board meeting they were expecting a move to Texas. We will be losing another energetic worker and a gal with many good ideas.

JACKIE PERISHO made a trip to the Los Angeles area last week to visit her husband, who has already been transferred down, and to do some home hunting. They will be moving at the end of the school term or when their home is sold.

The sixth grade pupils had a surprise party for their teacher, Ruth Freitas, Friday afternoon. They celebrated with a birthday cake, a class dance and a present bought by the students for their teacher.

Miramonte's swim team finished fourth with a score of 43 in last Friday's competition of the Foothill League's relays that were held at Acalanes High School.

MIRAMONTE'S B team took first place, scoring 81 points. Miramonte's pool is being used by the Aquabears for training of this outstanding team. They have won ten firsts in recent AAU meets at the Alameda Air Station.

Did you know Joe LeBlond is taking a business trip to Europe for two or three weeks. He will fly from here to New York, then direct to Zurich, Switzerland, then to Italy, France and Germany and other countries. He has been a busy boy the past week getting vaccinations and passports in order.

PH Cleaners Burglarized Sixth Time in 2 Months

Six burglaries and one case of grand theft were reported to the Lafayette Sub Station of the County Sheriff's Office in the past week.

A Pleasant Hill Dry Cleaning store was burglarized for the sixth time in two months this week.

Marshall Steel Cleaners, 1870 Oak Park Blvd. lost an unknown amount of money from the cash drawer Monday.

ENTRANCE to the cleaners was made by forcing a door to the back room of an all-night laundromat adjacent to the cleaners. The responsible then climbed over a wood partition into the store.

The store manager did not know how much money was in the till.

A Pleasant Hill soil contractor had his place of business at 76 Thomas Lane burglarized last Saturday.

M. J. Lucas who shares a building with Pleasant Hill Auto Electric told deputies that bulk oil, gasoline and tools were taken.

Deputies said no evidence of forced entry could be found. Stanley School in Lafayette reported the school had been broken into on Sunday.

AN ICE CREAM vending service operator noticed a smashed window in the auditorium when he came to the school to service

Max Shulman Tells All In Suburbia Today Friday

Max Shulman, one of America's best-known humorists (Rally Round The Flag, Boys; The Tender Trap; I Was A Teen-Age Dwarf; Barefoot Boy With Cheek) tells how, beginning with scrawling verses at the age of four, he had to "write or bust." In the April issue of SUBURBIA TODAY, which will come to you wrapped in next Friday's edition of your Sun.

If you're going to Europe this summer, will you need a travel agent? Should you take a car? Can you use your own checks? Veteran travelers Luis and Jo Villalon offer 12 tips on how to enjoy your trip and find home, on your return, as secure as it was when you left.

PHOTOGRAPHY is fine art and belongs in museums as much as painting or sculpture, says Ivan Dmitri, director of a project called Photography in the Fine Arts. In the April issue of Suburbia Today he describes some of the recent controversy surrounding the subject, and shows striking photographs to prove his point.

Hail to the chef! Author Herbert Breen reports on a new craze—the many cooking schools now springing up all over the country—and introduces us to a young fellow named Joe Hyde, a professional chef, who is teaching amateurs the cookery he learned in the great restaurants of France.

Baseball is a game that can be played only one way, says comedian Joe E. Brown, president of the Pony League. It takes hard work and sportsmanship, and Brown is proud of the 100,000 hard-working 13 and 14-year-olds who are playing in the Pony League.

USE THE FOOD pages, this month, to spread the most elegant buffet table in your family's history—for example, Fresh Ham with Exotic Stuffing, Chicken Liver Pate, Dobos Torte and Sour Cream Crescents, all kitchen-tested and delicious.

Garden editor John Brimer discusses arbors—carefree summer houses of vines and lattice where you can enjoy pleasant meals and take your ease from now till fall.

The fashion pages, this month, spread out a collection of rain-wear in the new hot and shocking colors—capes and pants and coats and jackets in a variety of water-resistant fabrics (including silk).

Finally, our "Suburbia—Any Day!" cartoonists sympathetically take up the cause of people with "Car Trouble." And check our news column, "Getting Around"—reading time, 60 seconds—for the facts on pheasants who wear spectacles, students who don't have to go to school, and firemen who like to start fires.

Her Name Adopted by Girl Scouts

"That Gray Neighborhood" isn't just where Mrs. Frances Gray lives.

It includes 17 Girl Scout Troops in the Parkmead and Buena Vista area.

And it's an official title given to that half of Walnut Creek which resulted when various school girl scout groups were combined into the "Gray Neighborhood" in the west and the La-Grande Neighborhood in the east.

GIRL SCOUT leaders were on pretty safe ground when they met March 6 in the Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church fireside room and singled out one of those present for the unique honor.

Mrs. Frances Gray, a resident of 220 Summit Road, organized the girl scout movement in Walnut Creek in 1943.

She helped get three troops going. And she saw that they kept going.

Mrs. Gray's comment: "I'm flattered, but embarrassed, too. There are others in scouting, too."

Still Time to Send Seals; Apply Now for Camping

All persons who have delayed sending their contributions were asked to "come through for crippled children" in the remaining days of the Easter Seal appeal.

Judge Norman Gregg, chairman of the campaign, said that donations may be sent to "Crippled Children, care of Local Postmaster," or to the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Contra Costa County, 240 South Sixth Street, Richmond.

"We're rounding third base, but need more contributions to get us to home plate," he declared.

IF YOU did not get your Easter Seals in the mail this year, you can still get a sheet of them at the headquarters in Richmond. Judge Gregg said, "We know some households in the county were not included in our mailing. We try to keep our mailing list up to date, but it's a rough job with so many new families moving in."

It was announced that Verne Snedden of the Nut Bowl held "Coffee Day for Crippled Children" yesterday to add funds to the 1961 Easter Seal campaign.

Patrons of the Nut Bowl were given coffee "on the house", but contributions for the Easter Seal Society were placed in Easter Seal coin containers.

MRS. RALEY Wiles of Lafayette, special events chairman, made arrangements for the "coffee day."

Easter Seal Resident Camp brochures and application forms for both Camp Campbell in the Santa Cruz mountains and the Santa Clara County Easter Seal Camp near Cupertino are available at the Easter Seal Center in Richmond.

The five camp sessions at the Santa Clara County camp will start on June 26 and end on September 2.

Boys and girls 7 to 18 years of age, may attend with a special session for young adults starting July 10 and ending July 22.

At Camp Campbell there is a one week session for children 6 to 9 years of age, and a two week session for older boys and girls August 20 to September 2.

Huge Mosaic Mural Will Be Completed by June

The more than two-year efforts of hundreds of Orinda children will be rewarded some time before June, when a huge mosaic mural will be hung at the north end of Glorietta School's new library.

According to Principal Jack Clark, the gargantuan project began as the brain child of Mrs. Barbara Cutler, third grade teacher, and was enthusiastically endorsed by the Orinda Union School District's art supervisor, Mrs. Florence Rossi.

THE THEME of the 5 by 30 foot mosaic is presented in bold and dramatic combinations of colorful tile, glass, pebbles, even aluminum strips and "punch lings," which depict the history and growth of the Moraga Valley and Orinda area.

A questing Captain Juan Moraga in full armor and astride his horse, inspecting his Orinda real estate; the old W. and W. railroad station; the Santa Maria church, the old barn, original site of the present Glorietta School, will be shown. The final panel is Glorietta School.

"I REMEMBER," Mr. Clark recalled, "When we began this project, we decided to stir up a bit of enthusiasm. An intra-class contest was set up in which the total weight of material brought in by each class would determine the winner. We had more than a ton and a half before we called a halt to the contest."

The weight of the completed mural will be between seven and eight hundred pounds, he added.

Doctor Finds Ulcers in South Seas

Dr. Lawrence H. Winter of Walnut Creek, who left his practice two years ago for a job in the South Seas, in part to escape from tension-filled modern society, found "ulcers in paradise."

Winter, 43, who now lives at 70 Park Avenue, served as director of medical services for the South Sea Islands territory of the United States.

"Ulcers are extremely common in American Samoa," he said. "The people of Samoa don't have pressures and tensions that are usually associated with ulcers," Winters said. "Perhaps we overplay tension as a cause. In the case of Samoans, ulcers may be caused by their diet or internal parasites."

According to Winters the islanders eat little meat and some fish, while sustaining mostly on boiled green bananas and taro, something like a sweet potato.

Winter, a Stanford graduate, said his wife, Ruth, and their son, Larry, 14, and daughter, Jan, 10, all enjoyed the two years in Samoa as much as he did.

But life in the islands is not the place for an American family, he said.

Education is a problem, since high school is the top learning available in the small island group, Winter explained.

"But," he said, "the Samoans are a fascinating people." "We learned a lot in our two years there, both about tropical medicine and from just studying the people and their culture."

Winter said that the Samoans have sat there on the island pretty much unchanged for thousands of years, watching the civilized nations come and go. "They don't use clocks or calendars," he said.

Center Forms Peace Caravan

Mrs. Lois Cline, publicity chairman for the Diablo Valley Peace Center, announced that the center is now forming a car caravan to attend the American Friends Service Committee rally as part of the "Witness For Peace" Easter program.

The peace caravan will leave the Co-op supermarket parking lot on Geary Road, Pleasant Hill, at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow and proceed to Union Square, San Francisco.

Those interested in joining the peace caravan can contact Mrs. Cline at YE 5-0262.

Moraga Residents Soon Will Receive Questionnaire

All Moraga residents will receive a questionnaire from the Moraga Elementary School District during the week of April 3.

The purpose of the questionnaire is to discover facts and attitudes in the community regarding various phases of the children's education.

The findings will be reported to the school board.

Robert Trask, assistant principal of Rheem School, announced that the questionnaires will be delivered to each occupied home or dwelling in Moraga.

If the household has children who are not attending a public school this should be noted on the questionnaire. Households without children should do likewise.

If there is a difference of opinion within a household, both opinions should be included on the questionnaire.

Any comments on questions or matters not covered in the questionnaire will be welcomed by the Curriculum Study Committee.

The Curriculum Study Committee is composed of members appointed by the Moraga School District Governing Board. The study is the initial project of the committee.

Members of the committee are: Robert Amber, chairman; Donald Falconer, clerk of the school board; Jean Homrighausen, William Loomis, Lenore Mohrmann, William Serat and Robert Trask.

"Get Involved" was the title of Paul Tufts' winning speech at Thursday's meeting of Diablo Toastmasters.

Bob Ballock was voted the best table topics speaker and Merle Andruss was singled out for giving the best evaluation of a prepared speech.

AAUW Indorses Candidates

Official endorsement by the Walnut Creek Branch of AAUW was granted to Mrs. Lee Murray, candidate for the Walnut Creek Elementary Schools Board of Trustees and Mrs. Duncan Knudsen, seeking election to the Acalanes High School District Board of Trustees.

The recommendation was presented to the organization by Mrs. Harold C. Martin, chairman of the Status of Women Committee, and was approved by the local branch.

According to Mrs. Elliot Hartman, publicity chairman, AAUW National suggests that local branches back qualified women candidates for public office.

Mrs. Murray is a former PTA president of Buena Vista School and Mrs. Knudsen was chairman of the 1959-60 Grand Jury Committee on Education.

College Students Join Honor Society

There's a Gag Here, But It Isn't Really Funny

There is an interesting sidelight to the problem of athletics in the Foothill League, which as you know, includes Acalanes, Las Lomas, Miramonte and Del Valle High Schools, among others.

That is the fact that the athletic directors perhaps, do not have as much to say about the administration of their own program as they might.

As you might remember, from reading stories carried in The Sun during the past few weeks, the freshman and junior varsity athletic program has been reduced in this league.

This action was taken by the Board of Supervisors, a group comprising the principals of the various schools.

WE ARE INCLINED to suspect that the board was not too sure of its policy when it made the original decision on scheduling of games for the next season, because the policy has already been modified (after The Sun had carried a front page story on the matter) to reinstate freshman basketball.

But back to that interesting sidelight about the athletic directors. It became apparent last week that the athletic directors had been flatly told, by the principals, we presume, to cease all discussion of the athletic policy with the newspapers. In fact, one athletic director actually told The Sun as much.

We agree, in principle, that when an organization has established a policy that the employees of that organization should follow the policy. If a change is to be made, it should be made within, not by "grousing" to outsiders.

BUT IN THIS case there are a couple of extenuating circumstances. In the first place, it is pretty obvious that the athletic directors were not consulted—at least not at any great length—before the reduced athletic policy was adopted.

Also, we feel that probably the athletic directors should know more about the essential facts of the athletic situation, the pros and cons of adopting a particular policy, than do the principals.

It may be, of course, that the directors were consulted, but if they were their suggestions were certainly not followed. Before they were told not to discuss the situation, they were all in disagreement with the final policy. Now, of course, they can't comment.

SECONDLY, WE FEEL that telling the athletic directors in this particular situation to be quiet is a poor procedure because in academic circles, there is generally more freedom of comment than there is, say, in the business world.

In a business situation an employee should, and usually must, follow the company policy. In an academic situation, where the people of the community is involved, there may be more than one approach to a problem and the people are entitled to know about dissenting opinions.

Certainly that is true in this case because interest has been demonstrated by parents in the community.

We think that the athletic directors should have been called in in the beginning and so stated in an editorial last week. We feel that it has been demonstrated that the original policy decision by the board of governors must not have been well thought out because they have already made changes.

We feel that there are more changes to be made.

This can only be accomplished by having the top administration, either the superintendent of schools, and/or the board of trustees, the principals and the athletic directors meet and agree on a satisfactory program.

We Like It Here... A Man Around The House Is Nice, Except...

By MARIE MONAHAN

IT'S SO NICE to have a man around the house, except sometimes...

When he's stretched out on the sofa snoozing, looking sooooo comfortable, & you have an uncontrollable yen to launch the spring cleaning!

WHEN he insists on doing the dishes & then asks for the thousandth time where you keep the dish towels... the same place they've been kept for the past ten years!

WHEN HE grumbles he'd rather stay home with a good book & his pipe than put on his charm & his new suit for your favorite charity party.

WHEN he doesn't put on his new suit, but his tired tweed to take you out to dinner & YOU with your best new dress on.

WHEN he doesn't even notice that you HAVE a new dress on.

WHEN you've spent a special afternoon preparing his favorite dinner and he walks into the kitchen, sniffs around, lifts the top off the pot & says "Beef & Kidney Stew? Oh, Honey, I had that for lunch today!"

WHEN a leaky faucet drives him mad, especially one that takes some fixing & you only make him feel like hitting you with the wrench when you suggest that a nylon stocking will at least alleviate the drip-drip till the plumber can come & fix it right!

WHEN he brings you a box of chocolates with a grand flourish & then after dinner proceeds to finish the whole box himself!

WHEN no matter how innocently he's come by match folders from Del Monte or the Fairmont or some posh place & you can't STAND not asking him "And WHEN were you in the Del Monte, Dear?"

WHEN you've just planted seeds, bulbs & flats of flowers & without serving notice he's out spading up the ENTIRE yard!

WHEN he insists on washing down the kitchen for you & then decides he can do in 15 minutes the job that normally takes three hours.

WHEN you've asked him to mail an important bill & three weeks later you find it in his suit pocket.

WHEN HE ASKS you how in the world can a pair of socks shrink like that?

When he wonders how his undershorts came by their old-rose color?

WHEN you remind him for WEEKS of a Big Night Out & then on that date, he claims, comfortably settled for the evening in his slippers & slacks, "But, Darling, This is the FIRST I've HEARD of it!"

ATHLETICS

Dear Editor:

I believe that the high school principals who cut back the competitive athletic program displayed an awareness of a national trend. It seems obvious to an impartial observer, if there is such a thing, that there is in this country, at this time, a definite over-emphasis on high school and college competitive athletics.

Competitive athletics have actually become the "center" of many of our educational institutions. This trend, or disease would be the better word, began in the colleges was communicated to the high schools and has now infected the junior high schools.

THAT WE NEED to have concern for the physical well-being of our youth goes without saying, however, it seems evident when we consider the deplorable physical condition of the great bulk of the population of this country over the age of 25, that the importance of active physical exercise and effective body building and care, so important to a healthy mind and a healthy body just didn't make itself known.

I lay the blame for this sick national condition directly upon a shortsighted incomplete educational program. It seems only right that the educators should correct this situation by remaking the entire physical fitness program so that all students could benefit, not just the athletically talented. The renewed program should emphasize the importance of life-long physical well-being, just as the academic program should emphasize life-long learning.

THERE SEEMS to be much spinning of the wheels in this controversy between the high school principals and the seemingly "Saturday-spectacle" minded few which misses the point completely—that of the physical well-being of all, not just the athletically talented.

It also goes without saying that competitive athletics are important to our youth and are part of the American scene and will continue to be so, however, and I repeat, competitive athletics at this period in American education are unquestionably over-emphasized.

ATHLETIC PROWESS and talent in our youth should be encouraged and given rightful recognition just as academic excellence is recognized and encouraged. However, I believe athletic recognition should keep its proper place and not be carried to emotional excess by an over zealous athletic-spectacle minded group or community, as has happened in many of our sports-centered institutions of learning.

THEREFORE, let's look at the entire high school physical educational program and not just the inter-scholastic athletic competition part.

Thank you for the excellent coverage and editorial thought you have given this important development in "The Sun".

Letters to The Editor

RAFER JOHNSON

Dear Editor:

The following is an open letter to Rafer Johnson, a copy of which was sent to The Sun.

Mrs. W. P. Gilmore says: The sports writers couldn't possibly get a true picture of you. No wonder you get such a chuckle out of the misquotes. They haven't seen you come to life addressing a group of 7th and 8th grade kids.

They haven't seen the enraptured faces on the high school citizens of tomorrow when you told them that they needed only to be physically fit, mentally alert, and have faith in God, themselves, and their fellow men to be champions... in any field.

I WISH there had been reporters around when the young people made personal vows to do what you said... be winners by doing their best instead of being lazy.

I wish every academically minded educator could have heard you remind our kids that to be successful in any field they have to set and achieve physical goals of good health, good control, and good coordination along with strength; and that this can only be obtained by a well-planned and executed compulsory physical education program designed for all the children.

I WISH all those ignorant ones who think girls are emotionally unstable for competition could have heard your derisive, "That's stupid!" when you heard their reasons for not allowing interscholastic games.

By the same token, I wish more P.E. directors could have heard you say that there must be a balance in training, and there must be enough activities offered so that many fields can be tried and the children can work in several directions.

WOULDN'T IT have been nice if the teachers could have heard you explain how important your teachers and coaches were to you in discovering and helping you to develop your potentialities. They would have been proud of belonging to that group that has the opportunity of developing this good material that is American Youth and making these junior citizens into good world citizens.

I liked the part where you explained our part in the building of our country and our part in understanding our world neighbors, discussing our divergent ideas, not trying to pound our ideas into each others' heads. You certainly pointed out by your description of Russian P.E. program how they not only educate the minds of their children, but also develop their bodies to go along with the minds.

IT SEEMS to me that we have just as much to be concerned about in the physical fitness area as we do in the academic area. How could a representative of our country compete in any field, no matter how brilliant he is, if he or she looks like a physical weakling, or lacks the physical stamina to withstand the mental pressures involved in diplomacy as practiced now.

And this brings up the answer you gave to the boy who asked why the other competitors didn't "psyche you out." You said, "They couldn't. I believed in myself because I knew I had worked hard and done my best to make the most out of what God has given me. No one was going to tell me that I couldn't do it."

THEY BELIEVED you. And they believed again when you frowned when asked about athletes who smoke and drink to excess after they stop hard training and you said flatly, "That is up to the individual... I'll never smoke or drink because it isn't good for me."

You pointed out the responsibilities of the individuals to these high school students, and where I was sitting in the audiences, I could see them hanging on your every word. When you used the word, work, they didn't cringe. When you said, "You must work hard to attain the good, high goals you set for yourself," those kids didn't groan. That word, work, no longer had a nasty sound.

I HAVE HAD the opportunity to hear you address the youth as responsible, comprehending individuals, who can have pride in their accomplishments, and who can attain any goal they really like by good hard physical work, mental work, and belief in themselves. You showed them that all these things can be done by your being there as the person you have made yourself. If they are smart enough to breathe, they are smart enough to get to the goals they set for themselves by working for them.

How proudly you stood to address the students, yet how humbly you accepted the tremendous and sincere applause that followed each speech.

Thank you, Rafer, for coming! MRS. W. P. GILMORE

Under The Sun

Look Who Sat in George Washington's Seat...!

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

If you want my autograph, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to The Sun.

Why? 'Cause a few weeks ago I sat on the very spot where George Washington sat, in his family pew in Christ Church, Alexandria, Virginia. Then, I slid down the bench to where Winston Churchill and Franklin Roosevelt prayed on January 1, 1942—just after Pearl Harbor.

Then, I went to pew 46 and sat on Robert E. Lee's bench.

No, I didn't sit because I was tired from walking about this beautiful, old church, built before the Revolutionary War. I sat because I wanted to tell the kids at home about it.

And the atmosphere of Washington, D.C. had captured me.

Or rephrase that sentence...

Perhaps I should say I caught the mood, the feeling of our nation's capital. This is not hard to do. I can't imagine anyone so blasé that he would not get a big thrill out of his first sight of the Capitol Building or Washington's Monument.

As you know, my reason for being in Washington was the Defense Department's "Operation Solidarity." The press plane was scheduled to depart from Washington to the Panama Canal Zone.

I've already reported to you that our airmen and soldiers on this maneuver weren't "playing soldier." They were playing for keeps and it was a mighty tough game.

But let me backtrack.

Bad weather forced my plane (from California to Washington) to land near Newport News, Virginia, near Chesapeake Bay. My history lesson started after I hopped a Greyhound for Washington. (Incidentally, Greyhound's big, comfortable cruisers are wonderful for sightseeing—fast, soft seats on the second level, air conditioned, frequent schedule. I met several British tourists who covered the entire U.S. via Greyhound.)

A lesson in history

Our bus sped along "History's Trail"—through Williamsburg, the restored colonial capital of Virginia; near Yorktown, where Cornwallis surrendered; into Richmond the capital of the Confederacy; past civil war battlefields and Fredericksburg; across the Potomac River to the Capitol.

I must admit that I look and act like a neck-crane, picture-taking sightseer. I don't try to hide the fact. So come with me for a fast, one-day tour of Washington.

(Incidentally, if you have a very short time to tour, let me suggest Grey Line, in most U.S. cities, or a good tour service in foreign countries.)

Our guide through the Capitol Building was Mrs. Murdock, wife of former Congressman Murdock of Arizona. Neither house was in session but a visit to the House and Senate chambers was fun.

Taxes and letters

We then headed down Pennsylvania Avenue, passing many massive government buildings. Oddly enough, you react to these buildings and how they affect you—Treasury Dept., Post Office, and, of course, the Internal Revenue building.

On Sunday the White House is closed to tourists, so we stopped to get a few feet of movie film. Then, to the fabulous Smithsonian Institute, where I would like to spend at least a day, instead of 30 minutes.

I saw entire rooms devoted to printing equipment, farm machinery, automobiles, airplanes, the sciences. I particularly remember Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis," Wright Bros.' "Kitty Hawk," Washington's military uniform, inaugural gown of every President's wife.

Two solemn sights

Most impressive is the giant figure of a solemn Abe Lincoln housed in the Lincoln Memorial Monument. Equally impressive is the changing of the Army guards, who day and night pace back and forth before the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery. Back in the bus, we saw the immense Pentagon Building.

Then, we drove 15 miles to Mt. Vernon. I have always been convinced that Contra Costa landscapes are unsurpassable, but will now admit that George Washington's plantation along the Potomac is breathtaking beyond description.

In the evening, I spent considerable time in the National Archives Building. Highlights were the original Declaration of Independence, Bill of Rights and the U.S. Constitution.

Next I toured the amazing National Gallery of Art. Before my legs gave out, I saw just a few of the priceless works, including Renoir, Gauguin, Degas, van Gogh, Rembrandt, Monet, Cezanne, Raphael.

Now I have impressed you with my interest in art—and I think I'll quit while I'm still ahead.

Five Gas Stations on Four Corners? Impossible!

A local official recently made a humorous, if wry comment. He said: "It's a good thing you can't put five gas stations on four corners."

Besides being humorous, the gentleman made an interesting point. It seems that the first time a street is established, or a corner becomes vacant, somebody comes along and builds a gas station on it.

Now we're not against gas stations. They're very necessary. But we are against having some of our communities turned into regular avenues of them.

IN SOME PLACES, the gas stations are not only on the corner, but are built right down the main street. Orinda had this problem, so did Danville, Alamo and Pleasant Hill.

And our other communities are not exempt, either. In fact, one local governmental body, the Walnut Creek City Council, is seriously concerned with the problem and is considering legislation to control the location of future stations.

This is something that we have been discussing in The Sun for a long long time. Frankly, the oil industry itself should do its own "legislating."

Don't Read That Letter!

By EDITH BRADY

Everyone, I suppose, has received, or will receive, a chain letter at one time or another during his life. I have gotten a huge number of them asking for and promising everything from dillies to dollars.

I read them at first and then threw them in the wastebasket. Now I usually just throw them in the wastebasket.

A COUPLE OF weeks ago, however, I received one from a "friend" which intrigued me.

It was a "good luck prayer." I had never heard of anyone mixing Fate and Religion before so I decided to act according to the instructions.

"Send four letters with the prayer to friends," it said.

It also said that I would have good luck in four days if I didn't break the chain. If I did break it I would have bad luck.

WELL, I SENT the copies just like it said and then "sat down to wait" for my good luck to start happening. Now, I'm not superstitious nor am I very religious, so I didn't believe in the thing. I was just curious.

THE DAY AFTER that I was asked to come to my Russian class early at Diablo Valley College to be interviewed by the Trib. So I skipped supper.

Oh, there was an interview all right, but it didn't even begin until 45 minutes after I had arrived. That was okay. Things like that happen in the "newspaper game." But I certainly wish I had eaten supper because class starts at 7 p.m. and lasts until 9:40 p.m.

But I could wait that long. What I didn't know was that our car had stalled in Walnut Creek while my mom was driving it and that it was after 10 p.m. so service stations were closed and she couldn't call an uncle because his wife was on the phone for half an hour.

OR THAT MY instructor would come to tell me about the mess and offer to take me home except he had ridden his bike to class that night and it was raining.

THE THIRD DAY after getting that chain letter I got an invitation for the following night to see a play in San Francisco. What fun, I thought, maybe this is the good luck I was promised because the next day would be four days exactly from the date I got the letter!

I needed my hair fixed. A friend of mine who likes to do such things was moving into her new home and was there waiting for the phone to be installed. Perfect! She'd have time to do it. I called a cab because it was too far to walk and got there just after she had left.

THE MAN WITH the phone said she would be back immediately so I dismissed the cab. After two hours of waiting and tracking fresh paint all over her newly varnished floors I called the cab again and went home with my stringy hair and empty pocketbook. It was too late to go to a beauty shop. That letter again!

NOT TRUSTING my luck at all I went to San Francisco that night to see the play. I was right. We got lost looking for the school where it was being staged.

And after 24 scenes, two acts and three and one-half hours of amateur, not-good-but-very-loud, Shakespeare, "Romeo and Juliet," to be exact, I knew that letter had tampered with my luck! (I see I've begun to be superstitious!)

I received another chain letter today and now it is laying crushed to death in my wastebasket. I'll burn it later...

Impressive Dons and Mats Clash at Acalanes Field

Easter vacation brought active competition in spring sports to a halt. Practice sessions have been the order of the day on all fronts and particularly in baseball.

League play will be in full swing Tuesday and all clubs have a second game next Thursday.

It is a particularly critical week in the pennant race as the top clubs cross bats and the ultimate outcome of the week's play could well tell the relative standings of the clubs.

THE OPENING round found an early season upset when Las Lomas dropped favored Alhambra while Acalanes racked Piedmont and Miramonte had little trouble while pounding out a win over San Ramon.

Tuesday's play features Miramonte at Acalanes in the top games. Both teams are going real good this year.

The Miramonte Matadors defeated Acalanes in two out of three games last season and promise to give the Dons plenty of trouble.

Chances are that the Mats will go with their ace right-hander Jim Tonarcia on the mound with Bub Welch held in reserve.

The Dons will go with Tom Strain or Denny Toll, both of whom rate as topflight throwers. The two teams have played good defensive ball to date and it promises to be a close go all the way and also have combined good pitching and plenty of hitting power in their games to date.

LAS LOMAS plays at San Ramon and the game should tell how the two teams will wind up in the pennant race.

Chances are that Coach Duane Louis will go with his best thrower, Bill Remy, at least a part of the way and at the same time save him as much as possible for Thursday's game with Miramonte.

San Ramon held high pre-season promise but have had problems in the injury department. Their top thrower, Bob Colleen, suffered a wrench back sking, but appears on the mend and with him in shape they could be tough to handle.

In game number three for the day in football play, Piedmont plays at Alhambra and the Martinez Bulldogs should have little trouble.

PIEDMONT has a low in the pitching department where it hurts most, while the Alhambra nine has good strength and can go with one of several top throwers which should be good enough for the win with the margin of victory depending on how active Alhambra is with the big stick.

Next Thursday's play finds Las Lomas at Miramonte, Piedmont at San Ramon and Alhambra at Acalanes.

All games are slated for a 4 p.m. starting time.

In games played in the league opens last Thursday, the Las Lomas Knights pulled an upset as they toppled the favored Alhambra Bulldogs 4-2.

The Knights were off to a flying start, collecting a pair of runs in the opening frame. Alhambra tied it up with two runs in the sixth.

Mike Breuleux proved to be the hero when he hit a seventh inning single to score a pair of runs that proved to be the winning margin.

THE KNIGHTS outthrew the Bulldogs 7-5 while each club committed a pair of errors.

Walnut Hills CC Opens Tomorrow

Walnut Hills Country Club opens for play tomorrow.

Workmen are busy putting the finishing touches on the modern two-story clubhouse at the present time.

The private 18-hole course built on the site of the old Meadowbrook Club near Lafayette has a present membership of 320. They are seeking 500 members.

The 60-acre layout includes the clubhouse, three swimming pools and a tennis court under construction. One of the pools will be olympic size. The others are for wading and diving.

The golf course itself measures 3450 yards and has a par of 58. Only three of the old greens have been retained. The rest are all new, having been planted only last summer.

Architect Bob Baldock was forced to move 250,000 cubic yards of earth to cut down the rough hills Meadowbrook was noted for as a nine-hole course. The nine additional holes also had to be added.

Head pro at the Walnut Hill is Dinny Dinsmore. The 39-year-old former Army colonel gave up his 22-year career to take over this job.

President of the club and major stockholder in the corporation is Arthur Lambert, Orinda developer.

and Stephenson: Alhambra—Bartlett, Nelson(7) and Quontamatto.

Miramonte got off on the right foot when they used three pitchers in shutting out San Ramon 8-0 while outpitching them 8-4 and playing errorless ball.

John Walker, Bill Hilger and Bruce Nickerson proved to be the big sticks as they each batted out a pair of hits.

MIRAMONTE scored two in the first, four in the third, and two in the fifth to chalk up the win.

Batteries: San Ramon—Collar, Evans(1), Collar(4) and Miller, Schiller, Schylar(6); Miramonte—Welch, Tonarcia(3), Kent(7) and Hilger Albo(7).

The Acalanes Dons swept to a 19-2 win over the Piedmont clan while collecting 17 hits to the losers' three. They committed just one error to Piedmont's six.

Denny Toll went the distance for Acalanes and had things well in control as the Dons picked up five runs in the first, one in the second, one in the fourth, two in the fifth and a big ten in the sixth.

Big blow of the game was a triple by Tom Strain with the bases loaded in the sixth while John Jones had three for four at bat.

Batteries: Acalanes—Toll and deVarona; Piedmont—Clayton, Millay(4) and Wood.

Local Girls Aid Team Victory

At the recent Pacific Association 1961 Senior Swimming Championships held at San Francisco State College, the Berkeley Y's Senior Women's Medley Relay Team took first place honors in the 400-yard relay, with the winning time of 4:33.2.

Three of the four members of the team are local girls—Becky McKee and Donna deVarona of Lafayette, swimming backstroke and butterfly; Susie Barkley of Orinda, swimming freestyle; Leslie Flegal, Piedmont, is the breast-stroker.

The stiff competition in this event was spearheaded by second place winner, Santa Clara A Team, composed of swim notables Chris von Saltza, swimming backstroke; Gina Ambrose, butterfly; Debbie Lee, breast, and Laurel Watson, free.

Spring tryouts for the Berkeley Y team, which encompasses children from six years of age through 17, will be held soon. At the present time, there are 11 members on the team from the Lafayette, Orinda, Walnut Creek area, so car pools are available.

Any parent with children interested in trying out for the Berkeley Y team may call Mrs. William McKee, AT 3-3230, for additional information.

Tato Yamashita is the coach of the Berkeley Y team, and William B. Pomeroy of Walnut Creek is president of the Berkeley Y Swim Club, whose members are parents of the swimmers.

The club is currently working on plans for an AAU swim meet to be held at Las Lomas on May 27 and 28.

The outstanding mark of the day was made by Dave Dornise of Acalanes when he heaved the 12-pound shot for an Acalanes record of 57-5/8.

Chris Rinne took two firsts in the meet, winning the 100 in 10:3 and the 220 in 22.7.

In the B division, Miramonte finished with 40-1/6 points, followed by Del Valle with 37, Acalanes, 35-5/6, and Las Lomas, 27.

GARY ROSE, a sophomore at Miramonte High School is one of the leading junior tennis players in the country. He and Jan Kucera of San Francisco are rated the best doubles combination in the U.S. for boys 15 and under. Gary is ranked as the sixth best singles player, also.

Future Tennis Greatness Awaits Orinda Youngster

At 15, Gary Rose has proved to be one of the top young tennis players in the United States.

Yet he has found out that there is a lot of hard work ahead before further recognition can be gained.

Gary, a sophomore at Miramonte High School, has been ranked as the sixth best tennis player in the country for his age by the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Gary and Jim Kucera of Lowell High School in San Francisco are rated the No. 1 doubles team in the country as well.

These ratings are based on performances during a four tournament tour taken by the youngsters in the summer.

Gary made the tour last year and did remarkably well.

THIS YEAR he will forego the tour to build up his game. Gary turns 16 in August and therefore will have to compete in the 18 and under category.

His chances competing against boys three years his senior this year would be slight.

So more hard work and lots of practice are on tap for the youngster this summer.

The USLTA released the ratings in World Tennis, the national tennis magazine.

The fine showings by Rose and Kucera in the tour last summer prompted the tour ranking.

On the tour's first stop the boys won the doubles event at the Louisville. Gary got to the quarter-finals in the singles before he was defeated.

NEXT STOP was Springfield, Ohio, for the Western Boys Championships. Gary reached the semi-finals in the single before being ousted. He and Kucera reached the finals in the doubles before losing out to the No. 1 seeded doubles team.

At Kalamazoo, Michigan, the annual site of the National Junior Championships, Gary won his first three matches before he was defeated.

He was one of 16 players left of the 184 participants in the tournament which is considered the World Series of junior tennis.

For the second straight tourney, the doubles team of Rose and Kucera fell to a tournament's No. 1 seeded team in the finals.

The final stop on the five week junket was Midland, Texas, the site of the National Jaycees Tennis Tournament.

THE TOP two tennis players from each state in the 18 and under and 15 and under age groups are invited to this tournament.

Almost every state in the union is represented with approximately 300 boys competing.

Gary tabbed himself as a future great in this big August tourney.

Representing the entire state of California, he teamed with Stephen Foster of North Hollywood and the pair walked off with the doubles championship.

Gary himself reached the finals in the singles before he was finally defeated.

League Wants To Enlarge Present Mt. Diablo Park

By LARRY JACKSON

The Isaac Walton League of America, Northern California Chapter, held its monthly meeting in the Walnut Creek PG&E building last Thursday. The main topic of discussion was the Mt. Diablo State Park.

A gathering of civic minded and conservation enthusiasts overflowed the small room to talk over the problem.

Bruce Chamberlain of the Contra Costa Parks and Recreation Council spoke of the desire of the council to obtain more land of the wilderness type adjacent to the present Diablo Mountain area.

HE EXPLAINED that the council was anxious to obtain this land but were handicapped by lack of money for the project.

Assistant Supervisor, Franklin Browne, of the Mt. Diablo State Park, told of the vast growth in traffic in the park area from a few thousand to the last year total of over 250,000 visitors and sight-seeing tourists from many different states.

He stated that the park was near the tourist saturation point on many occasions last year and that more land was badly needed to take care of the recreational facilities of the crowds of people.

Boy and Girl Scouts as well as high school and college groups find the area high in value in their studies and more of the wilderness area is required.

Some time back the State Parks Committee set aside $200,000 to be used for the purchase of more land adjoining the present 2100 plus acres now park domain. At the time the money was available but the land was not for sale. The State Committee then passed the Mt. Diablo money over to the Frank's Tract purchase and has never returned it to the coffers of the Mt. Diablo group.

THIS LAND is badly needed—as is the money—to purchase more of this wilderness area before it is grabbed up by the subdivision interests and completely ruined by their bulldozers and future home sites.

Edwards I. Kotok, the only for-ester emeritus of the U.S.A. and past president of the Forestry Service, stated that a few years back considerable acreage adjacent to the park could have been purchased for $8,000 but that the value had greatly increased since then and that the money was not available at the time.

Dr. Paul Needham, Lafayette, made a motion that ways and means be studied to enable the proper authorities to obtain these areas.

The club went on record as favoring the motion and acting on it at once.

Edward W. Munns, Concord, head of the State Forestry Research, stated that at present there was only $65,000 in the Mt. Diablo Park fund and this was earmarked for water and sanitation only and could not be used for property buying.

Both the water and sanitation situations are much too small to accommodate the growing visitors. Munns advised people in the Parks authority who should be contacted regarding more money for land purchase.

PEYTON FARRER, president of the Contra Costa Horsemen's Association and also member of the C.C.C. Parks Council, expressed the need of both organizations for more land in the wilderness area for the recreational groups and the horsemen and told of the progress made by the groups on their project for a riding trail from Moraga to the top of Mt. Diablo, a distance of 18 miles. It is now almost complete with the exception of a right of way to the State Park area.

Others in attendance and voicing approval of acquiring this acreage: Dr. Ralph C. Hall, board member of the Acalanes School system and a Boy Scout enthusiast; William Settler of the Sierra Club and his wife Genevieve, president of the W. C. Garden Club; B. L. Winslow, Orinda, member of the C.C.C. Parks Council and wife Mildred, one of the top conservationists and lecturer; Carl Fisher, J. Y. Youmans, Henry Blalock, Danville and many others.

STEWART emphasized that this is only his opinion, and does not represent the thinking of the State Division of Beaches and Parks.

Stewart noted that the park now has 2168 acres, mostly on the south and west sides of the mountain.

But events on the north and east sides affect the park, since the park extends to include the summit, he said.

He referred to North Peak, and the decision of owners of the Blackhawk Ranch on the south side to subdivide and develop portions of their areas for homes.

The Sportsmen

Bad Weather Keeps The Fishermen Home---Again

Fishing good—fishermen—absent, reads all reports along the waterfront these windy days.

Winds, high waves and blustery weather set back the fishing take again this past week. Boaters had a rough go of it and were kept off the waters most of the week, but the pier and wharf addicts had a ball braving the storms and taking fish.

This is particularly true at White's Fishing Resort where a little protection from the elements is available and the fish more than cooperated. Eddie "Bullhead" Lockhart, veteran of the wharf knocked off the top spot again this past week taking 5 fine stripers in two days, running from 6 to 10½ pounds.

ALL HANDS who braved it out, were rewarded with fish in the same pound class. Boats were kept dockside with the wind and fishing was continued only between showers.

At McAvoy's Harbor, reports were the same. 'Boats found it too dangerous to make the run through the waves of the channel to the river so remained tied up most of the week. A few who ventured out hit good luck in the take department with all the fish running in the 6-10 pound class, but no Schenley award fish this week.

W. J. Powell and his two brothers got out between storms and registered five fish going 5 to 8 pounds. Happy Cartner made it out to his favorite spot and limited out with 8-9-12 pounders but tried it a few days later only to get blown off the water. The old die-hards, Angelo and Rose Compinzio had one fair day registering three fish in the 3-6 pound class.

It was just too mean punishment trying to buck all the adverse elements so most of the gang set to work getting crafts in shape for the better weather ahead.

PARTY BOATS at Dowdell's were docked most of the week and even when a few sports did show up, the rough water made boating a bad risk so the gang made the trip back-home. A few fish were taken when the boats could make the run but it was just too hazardous most of the week.

We went to the dogs again over the weekend—took in a fine Springer Spaniel Field Trials on the Grizzly Island game management area, staged by the Tamarin Springer Spaniel Club.

Twenty-six fine springers put on quite a show for the gallery in the Champion Stakes on Sunday, with Intrinsic Bill being the class. He is owned and handled by Jack Peterson of nearby Sunnyvale. Bill ran a very flashy three series land and one water event and easily proved out the best in the judges' opinion—frankly our own too.

This dog is from the fine stock of the Waiterock Kennels, Lafayette and was very well handled by owner Peterson.

The Ski Line

Nobody Outguessed The Weatherman This Year

Holy moley, what a crazy mixed up ski season this has been! To get the ball rolling, things got off to a flying start with a nice early snowfall. There was skiing by Thanksgiving for the first time in the memory of all but the very ancient. Just about the time it appeared we were assured of a deep, luxurious pack that would assure great skiing well into spring, the man making the white stuff quit.

For nearly two months we underwent a complete drought. The pack dwindled down to a thin sheet of blue glare ice. Subsequent storms improved the situation somewhat, but it appeared certain that there wouldn't be sufficient snow in most areas to last through Easter.

HOWEVER, now when we would normally be waist deep in spring skiing, the Sierra has been buffeted by a series of late spring storms. It now appears skiing will continue at most major resorts through mid April.

While fresh powder snow has replaced spring corn as the order of the day, it hasn't slowed the Easter week ski rush. When the institutions of higher learning closed their doors last week for a respite from the book pounding, it served as a signal for an exodus for hundreds to the slopes!

A good case in point is Barbara Wiseman of Lafayette. The recent Acalanes graduate is now engaged in the pursuit of knowledge at the University of Colorado at Boulder, Colo. This brain factory is located in the heart of the Colorado ski belt, and Barbara has had to confine her weekends to such outlandish places as Winter Park, Arapahoe Basin, and on rare occasion Aspen. What a burden to have to bear!

Naturally, once home for an Easter visit, Barbara had no inclination to toil over a ski slope any longer. Hah! Like the proverbial postman, within 24 hours of arriving home she was off to the Sugar Bowl with her parents for several days.

DONALEE FAY of Walnut Creek reversed this trend, and took off for a visit to that ski mecca, Sun Valley.

Harmon and Joan Howard opened their cabin in the Tahoe area to Las Lomas students, Keith Howard, Mike Thompkins and Mike Breuleux.

Dick and Pete Williams also of Las Lomas took off for some great skiing at the Sugar Bowl. Bruce Hamilton and Jim Hechtman also of Walnut Creek skied the Squaw.

Dick and Joyce Lesser of Lafayette just wound up a two week vacation that included a week at Mammoth Mountain, a week at Sugar Bowl, and a weekend at Heavenly Valley.

The Alex Babin family shared a chalet at Squaw Valley and have enjoyed the skiing for the past two weeks.

Helen and Bill Hayward, the happy Nut Creek realtor reports having had a ball at Lake Tahoe and Squaw Valley a week ago. Unlike his Locust St. neighbor, Glen Phillips, Bill doesn't make a false move towards getting on the slopes. Glen on the other hand is an enthusiastic skier, and has had a walking cast for the past two weeks to show for his efforts. Now it turns out, the medics can't find the hairline fracture! It can't be counted as wasted effort though. Think of the conversation piece it has afforded!

FOR THOSE of the growing legions of hockey fans that would like to combine some hockey with skiing, there's good news. The Far Western Hockey Championships will be held at the Blythe Area at Squaw Valley starting April 7. There are seven games scheduled, with six teams participating. A strong aggregation from Denver is pre tourney favorites.

Golf Course At Airport

Supervisors Mel Nielsen and Tom Coll of the Contra Costa Supervisors' Airport Committee have announced that preliminary plans are being finished for a public golf course at Buchanan Field.

The course will be located at the intersection of Concord Avenue and Highway 21, and will include much of the "clear zone" area of the airport. The course will be constructed and operated by builders and developers Dan Peacock of Orinda and Y. C. 'Chet' Soda of Oakland.

According to Peacock and Soda, the course will not be a "pitch and putt" course, but will be designed to test the capabilities of the better golfers.

Preliminary plans call for several holes longer than 300 yards, and a total of seven holes longer than 200 yards.

The designers claim that the total length of 2300 yards will course in the Bay Area.

The developers' time table calls for construction to begin shortly after Labor Day with the course scheduled to open about February 1, 1962. The driving range may be in operation earlier.

Said Supervisors Nielsen and Coll: "The golf course is an ideal development for the airport. The people of Contra Costa County will be provided with a much needed recreational facility, and at the same time, the entire appearance of the airport will be upgraded. In addition, the attractive appearance of the course will enhance the desirability of the adjacent restaurant, motel and other commercial sites the county has available for development adjacent to the golf course. And, last but not least, the golf course will provide welcome revenue for the airport's coffers."

The golf course will be located in the large perimeter area surrounding Buchanan Field, which is not needed for aviation purposes. The airport master plan contemplates eventual development of this perimeter area for commercial, industrial and recreational purposes.

WalnutCreek Beaten For Hockey Title

San Francisco broke a seven-game Walnut Creek winning streak and added a playoff championship to its regular season first place finish in the Bay Area Ice Hockey League.

Walnut Creek, which had beaten the Shamrocks three times in four tries during the regular season, fell 7-5 in overtime before a crowd of 1200 at Berkeley's Ice Land.

It was San Francisco's second straight overtime win in the playoffs. They qualified to meet Walnut Creek last week by besting Berkeley, 8-7, in an overtime game.

Walnut Creek had qualified a week earlier by beating Oakland, 12-10.

The win was San Francisco's 11th in 14 games. Walnut Creek ended with a 9-5 overall record.

All six starting Shamrocks and three of the Warriors will be among the 15 players representing the bay area against the Los Angeles All-Stars in the Iceland season finale at 7 p.m. Sunday.

They also will appear at the Western Senior Invitational tournament at Squaw Valley April 7-9.

The Shamrocks scored with 3:50 left in regulation time to send the game into overtime, then scored at 1:45 and 2:00 of the overtime period to go in front to stay.

Pete Eby of San Francisco, the league leading scorer, collected three goals for the winner. Gilles Tanguay scored twice for the Warriors. He finished second to Eby in the regular season scoring race.

Acid Fertilizer Aids Azaleas And Camellias

Wise gardeners will remember to check the following:

Feed azaleas and camellias with an acid fertilizer after they have gone out of bloom.

Start a hanging basket of fuchsias for summer bloom. Two or three small plants can be put in one large container.

Pinching out the terminal growth of newly planted annuals will result in bushier plants, more bloom.

Vegetables should be started for summer harvest. Many of them are available as seedlings for easy transplanting to your garden.

Spray roses for invading insects and for mildew.

A Plant in Bloom Will Brighten Easter Sunday

Plants in bloom go hand in hand with Easter. They match the mood of the day and offer a harvest of cheer that all of us welcome. Moreover, most of them can be saved to share our Easter Sundays again and again.

The California Association of Nurserymen adds this last bit of advice for gardeners who seem to think that Easter plants are bred for one-time bloom only. Easter lilies, especially, are bought and enjoyed until the last bud is gone.

Then, likely as not, they are discarded. If the gardener once tries to transplant an Easter lily to his garden, he'll not toss one out again. Like any garden lily, it lives a long life and will produce its fragrant white trumpets for years.

If YOU are joining the Easter parade to your neighborhood nursery this week, you'll find plenty of color to supplement the white of Easter lilies. Azaleas are still to be found in bloom and when we speak of cheer, we think of azaleas.

It's doubtful that any other plant offers more color per square inch of surface than this one. Azaleas are truly shrubs to brighten your Easter morning.

Although strictly out of season, chrysanthemums are also available at CAN nurseries. These are hot-house grown to give you a full head of bloom for Easter. When they've faded, don't discard them by any means. Set them out in the garden, cut them back and they'll grow and bloom again this year.

FLORIST cyclamen are cheery little plants for Easter giving. If, after their color has been enjoyed indoors, they are set out in a shaded or semi-shaded spot in the garden, cyclamen will continue blooming sometimes for weeks.

CAN, nurserymen still have camellia plants in bloom. And if they aren't exactly Easter-gift plants, you can still treat your-

A requirement, however, is that the unemployed father must accept any job offered to him by the State Employment Office as long as he is able to perform the work involved.

Microfilm Filing System Saves Work

Sheriff Walter F. Young announced recently that his department has gained satisfactory results with the microfilm system adopted over three years ago.

The system now has been expanded to over half again the original size it was at the beginning of his term of office.

This total is composed of the jail booking and civil division records made by this county.

Microfilming records in this office resulted in a great saving in time formerly wasted by the handling of bulky folders and space consuming file cabinets.

Numerous file cabinets were emptied and moved from the office area in 1958 providing much needed office floorspace.

The filmed records are now stored in a five drawer cabinet occupying only five square feet. One compact film storage drawer alone replaces over 30 four-drawer file cabinets, leaving space for eight employees and their desks.

This work is done by a clerk in the sheriff's office in just a portion of the time formerly used in printing identification numbers, punching holes, typing, and refiling, as subsequent arrests were recorded.

Those nice spring days are here again, and those gentle spring breezes come right along with them.

That brings out the old kite-flying instinct in youngsters, and often in the parents too!

Literacy as Vote Standard In Jeopardy

The Republican Central Committee of Contra Costa County has challenged a State Assembly-passed bill eliminating the right of citizens to challenge voters on the basis of alleged illiteracy.

Cancer--April Drive for Money

The Contra Costa County Branch of the American Cancer Society tomorrow will begin a month-long drive to reduce the number of cancer deaths.

County Campaign Chairman Jack K. Chapman of Alamo announced that volunteers of the society will emphasize three ways in which the community can strengthen its guard against the disease.

The first two are contained in the society's education message. Everyone should learn cancer's seven danger signals and get a health check-up once a year.

THE THIRD concentrates on the society's fund raising objectives. County goal is $75,000.

A concentrated effort will be made to place complete information in the hands of every local householder during April, Chapman said.

Organizational work for the campaign has been underway for the past six weeks, he declared. Working with him on details of the intensive educational and fund-raising drive are local area chairmen here as in each community throughout the county.

Business and industrial leaders will conduct their canvass starting tomorrow. The major event of the campaign will be a house-to-house march by volunteers on Monday, April 17.

THE MONTH of April traditionally is observed across the nation as Cancer Control Month. It was officially designated by Act of Congress in 1938 and has been proclaimed annually by the President in each succeeding year.

It was also announced that the showing of two important cancer education films will be next Wednesday at 1 p.m. at the Park Theater in Lafayette.

They will be open to all women of Lafayette, Orinda, Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill, Danville and Alamo. Mrs. Jack Newby of Lafayette is cancer education chairman.

Mrs. Newby said that neither tickets nor advance reservations will be necessary to see the two films which contain life-saving information for all women.

The American Cancer Society films are "Time and Two Women," dealing with uterine cancer, and "Breast Self-Examination."

Dr. Frederick A. Pellegrin, Walnut Creek internist and member of the board of the Contra Costa Branch of the cancer society, will be present to answer questions after the film showing.

This will be the only mass showing of the films in Central Contra Costa this month during April, national cancer control month.

Last Chance To Get Your Easter Seals

In making the announcement, Judge Norman Gregg, Contra Costa County chairman for the Easter Seal fund campaign that opened March 2, said:

"We know some households in the county were not included in our mailing. We try to keep our mailing list up to date, but it's a rough job with so many new families moving in."

Contributions to the Easter Seal appeal may be sent to its sponsors, the Easter Seal Society of Contra Costa County, or to "Crippled Children, care of local postmaster."

The campaign ends Sunday.

Planners Differ on Land Use

The Walnut Creek Planning Commission is against making a special planning area out of the area along Danville Highway proposed for a "specialty shopping area."

And commissioners are not worried about the vacant areas within the Administrative Professional Research zone in Ygnacio Valley to the point where they feel "concentric" development is a necessary requirement.

These were the main points of disagreement with the city council, as the commissioners discussed the General Plan land use Tuesday night, before referral back to the council.

The commissioners generally agreed with the council on most of the other sensitive points.

This includes reduction of the APR zone from 600 to 350 acres, due to the plans for "Woodlands" subdivision in Ygnacio Valley, and the reduction of the multiple family use for the land along

Easter Seal Board Meets

The board of directors of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Contra Costa County met Tuesday at Easter Seal headquarters in Richmond.

Judge Norman Gregg, chairman of the 1961 Easter Seal Campaign in Contra Costa County, reported on progress of the campaign to date.

Proposed personnel practices for the Contra Costa Easter Seal Society were presented by Claude Vickery, chairman of the personnel practices committee.

Other members of the committee include Mrs. Edwin Laplace and George Whaley, with Miss Martha Burt, field consultant for the California Society for Crippled Children and Adults, serving as advisor.

Pupils Get New Method Vision Tests

First graders and children new to county schools—10,050 of them throughout Contra Costa County—have had their vision tested by the Modified Clinical Technique since school opened last fall.

This was the second year of vision screening with the technique originated in Contra Costa in a search for a more reliable method of testing the vision of primary age children, as required by state law.

The 1960-61 screening was operated on a contract basis between the office of the county superintendent and 21 school districts.

Dr. Harold Weatherbe, administrative assistant on the county staff, reports the charge to the district was 55 cents per child.

A similar cost was borne by the county department in last year's operation on a trial basis. It includes actual expenses, plus a small amount for a capital outlay replacement fund.

MCT was originated by Dr. Henrik L. Blum, Contra Costa County health officer, and associates from Stanford and the University of California, in cooperation with Orinda Union School District.

In the initial experience with the test it was found to be approximately 89 per cent accurate in detecting vision defects as compared with 30 per cent accuracy of tests formerly used.

Lafayette Man Is Promoted

James C. Gain has been appointed assistant manager at the Martinez office of Wells Fargo Bank American Trust Company.

With the bank since 1933, Gain advances to his new post from assistant cashier at the Orinda office.

He and his wife, Donna, have two children, Richard, 9, and Carol, 11.

They currently reside in Lafayette at 3788 Mosswood Drive.

Concord Attorney In the Race for JC District Post

Craig Randall, a Concord attorney, announced his candidacy for the board of directors of the Contra Costa County Junior College District last week.

The district serves two junior colleges—Diablo Valley College and Contra Costa Junior College in Richmond.

The district election is April 18. RANDALL is a graduate of the University of California Hastings College of Law. He has been a practicing attorney for the past eight years.

He lives at 1433 Yosemite Circle and is the father of three children.

A figure in central Contra Costa County water affairs in the past years, Randall currently is chairman of the Citizens' Advisory Committee.

This committee is concerned with the new Treated Water Division of the Contra Costa County Water District.

He is past president of the Meadow Homes Parents Club and also served for two terms as a director of the Cambridge Elementary School PTA.

RANDALL also was an area chairman for the recently successful Mt. Diablo Unified School District bond election.

"As a parent of three children who some day will be entering Diablo Valley College, I have a deep personal interest in making sure that our local college facilities keep pace with the pressing demands of our growing population," Randall declared.

"I am certain that the many thousands of parents in our area, whose children also will soon be knocking on the doors of higher educational institutions, are equally concerned about our future ability to handle this great flood of students, he added.

"If I am elected to represent

Animal Rabies Case Reported

Contra Costa County's second case of animal rabies in 1961 has been announced by the Communicable Disease Division of the county health department.

A skunk from the Pinole area has been proven rabid on examination of brain tissue specimens by the health department's laboratory. The first case of animal rabies this year was also in a skunk from the Pinole area.

Dr. Erich Diemand, assistant county health officer, said "fortunately in this case no one was bitten, nor were any dogs involved."

"However, this points up the continuing need for maintaining a high level of immunization against rabies in our dog population in order to provide a barrier between the reservoir of rabies known to exist in wild life and the possibility of rabies in humans."

"In man rabies is always fatal, and is a most difficult death."

Dog owners throughout the county, and especially those in the Pinole area, are urged to be sure their pets are vaccinated against rabies.

Persons who have not taken advantage of the recently scheduled low-cost dog rabies immunization clinics held during the annual dog licensing period in February, or who have young dogs now requiring vaccination, should have this done by a veterinarian.

Dog owners are reminded that Contra Costa County has been officially redeclared a rabies endemic area.

Under provision of the state health and safety code all dogs four months of age or older are required to be licensed and vaccinated against rabies. Dogs under four months of age are required to be confined.

"Anyone receiving an animal bite should see his physician for treatment, and report the bite to the nearest county animal control center."

Compulsory Arbitration Liked Here

Compulsory arbitration of a strike, where the "safety and welfare of the nation is adversely affected, has been favored by Contra Costa and Solano County residents, Congressman John Baldwin said this week.

Baldwin announced the results of a 12 question form which was sent to all Sixth District registered voters' homes.

He said that 87 per cent also of the non-union members favor compulsory arbitration.

BALDWIN said that 80 per cent of his voters favor resuming underground nuclear weapon testing, if within about six months an agreement for permanent cessation of nuclear tests be reached.

About 56 per cent favor increasing defense expenditures, compared to 34 per cent wanting no increase, and 10 wanting a decrease.

Seventy per cent of the constituents favor continuing the U.S. House Un-American Activities Committee, while 18 per cent want it abolished and 12 per cent are undecided.

Some 57 per cent of the voters agree that the requirement that for the family to receive Aid to the father (or mother) be absent. Needy Family Funds should be removed.

SOME 82 per cent favor eliminating the electoral college procedure in electing U.S. President.

Scouts, Explorers Spend Weekend at Camp Bray

Boy Scout Troop 223 and Explorer Post 223 recently completed their annual trip to Camp Judge Bray. Thirty-two boys and nine dads left Vallejo School on a Saturday morning by chartered bus and several station wagons to descend upon the Boy Scout camp on the Stanislaus River near Pinecrest. They found little or no snow, so skiing was done at Dodge Ridge, a short trip from camp, where the snow was sparse but good.

The group filled the Jim Bridger cabin at Camp Bray to capacity. Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hawkins Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Burwell Spurlock and Mrs. Leland Scott Jr. occupied a nearby cabin which they have rented every year during the Scout snow trip.

SALLY HARTMAN, Norma and Laura Hawkins and Sisie Hoyt also spent the weekend at the cabin, and Saturday night everyone joined in a birthday celebration for Lee Scott, the scoutmaster.

Other dads accompanying the scouts were Explorer Advisor Barney Rocca, Committee Chairman Dr. Elmer Brinkerhoff and Committeemen Al Seibert, Ray Graham, Jim Moore, Philip Johnson and Rod Morse.

THE BOY SCOUT Senior Patrol planned the meals: Dunc Dickson, senior patrol leader; Steve Scott, Bob Stoops, assistant senior patrol leaders. The dads pitched in and helped with the cooking.

The following duty patrols alternated between serving and cleaning up: Apache patrol: Fred David, Mat Johnson, Doug Kelly, Philip Knudsen, Dick Lee and Brian Childs.

Blackfoot patrol: Greg Graham, Ken Kaplan, Bill Brinkerhoff, Kim Cardin and Ken van Loben Sels.

Troquois patrol: Philip Johnson, Bob Disharoon and Ross Brigante; Navajo patrol: Bob Seibert, Greg Moore, Bill Morse and Jim Clapp; Pueblo patrol: Mark Schwartz, John Griffith, Dave Lahey, Jim Elliot, Mike Milwee, Bob Bauer.

THE EXPLORERS who spent the weekend at Camp Bray were Bart Rocca, Scotty Scott, Phil Simon, Stephen Spurlock and Dick van Loben Sels.

The only casualty of the trip was Philip Johnson Jr., who broke his leg on the ski slopes. He was given treatment at the Dodge Ridge first-aid station and was driven home, along with his father and Dr. Brinkerhoff, by Jim Moore.

Ten Boy Scouts Pass Hunter Safety Course

Ten scouts from Troop 223 passed the NRA Hunter Safety course this month. They are Bob Bauer, Kim Cardin, Jim Cory, Greg Graham, Philip Knudsen, Mat Johnson, Mike Milwee, Bob Trull, Ken van Loben Sels and Mike Lahey.

The yearly course consists of four one-hour sessions, plus a written examination and final shooting range meeting. At the range the boys shoot targets with 22 rifles. They are also judged on their safe handling practices in carrying a gun, crossing a fence with a gun and getting in and out of a car with a gun.

Realtors Regard Spring As House-Buying Spur

The Contra Costa Real Estate Board members can be of particular assistance to both seekers and sellers this year in view of the shifts in the house market. Charles E. Bailey, president, said, "Real Estate activity this spring is expected to be greater than it has been in past months because of this natural revival of interest and because of recent developments which have eased the mortgage market," Bailey said. He pointed out that Federal Housing Administration insured mortgage interest rates were cut from 5 1/2 to 5 1/8 per cent in early February.

A campaign is under way by the government for a lowering of interest rates on conventional home mortgages, a trend which had already started before the federal action as availability of mortgage funds increased, he added. "As professionals in their field, realtors can be of tremendous service to home buyers by helping them obtain the best terms available in our area," Bailey declared. Bailey pointed out that realtors can also save time for a person wanting to buy a house. "Realtors can show the buyer properties that meet his needs from a selected list of homes the realtor has available at all times. "He can arrange appointments for the buyer to visit these houses at his convenience," he said.

Nejedly Discusses Water Issue

District Attorney John A. Nejedly of Contra Costa County appeared before the water section of the Commonwealth Club at the St. Francis Hotel March 23 as guest speaker.

His topic was the Metropolitan Water District contract and its relation to and effect upon the industrial and agricultural areas of Eastern Contra Costa County and the Delta region.

The principal issue was "Is the contract between the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California and the State of California Department of Water Resources in the public interest?"

Public Works Dept. Spends $4 Millions

Expenditures of the County Public Works Department during the fiscal year 1959-60 totaled $4,798,127, the department's annual report indicates.

The largest single listing was secondary road work, and $925,847 for primary road rights of way, construction and maintenance. Total permanent personnel is 324. Some $1,296,863 was spent on 324.

Symposium Topic Is County Agriculture

What lies ahead for agriculture in Contra Costa County will be discussed by Dr. George L. Mehren, director of the University of California's Giannini Foundation of Agriculture Economics, April 27, at the third annual Contra Costa County Business and Industrial Outlook Symposium.

The symposium is scheduled for the gymnasium and student activities building of Diablo Valley College under sponsorship of the Contra Costa County Development Association.

Other speakers who have accepted invitations include Dr. Howard E. Kershner of New York, economist and author, and Dr. Lyman R. Fink of Palo Alto, director of General Electric's Atomic Products Division.

Notifications of the symposium, which will start at 1:15 p.m. and continue through afternoon and dinner sessions, will be mailed to a list of approximately 2000 county and Bay Area leaders within the next three weeks.

Simon Growth Reduces Net

Simon Hardware Company has reported record highs in sales and carrying charge income for the nine months ending January 31, but also a decline in net profit due to increased extraordinary expenses connected with "the greatest period of physical expansion in the 60-year history of the company."

In an interim report to share owners, it was noted that sales of $7,663,047 for the nine months ended January 31 were greater than for the entire 12 months of the preceding fiscal year and were 23.3 per cent above the comparable nine-month period.

Adoption Group To Hear Social Work Lecture

The Diablo Adoption Auxiliary will hear a lecture on "What Makes a Good Social Worker" by Elizabeth Pfeiffer Wednesday at 10 a.m. at Diablo Valley College.

Miss Pfeiffer is a lecturer in social welfare and field work consultant at the University of California School of Social Welfare.

At the March meeting members discussed current adoption legislation and made plans to attend Senate and Assembly Judiciary Committee meetings in Sacramento when necessary.

Final arrangements were also made for several members to attend the Child Welfare League Conference in San Francisco last month.

Delegates attended an institute on Aspects of Adoption Services and several general sessions devoted to matters on adoption.

Also at the meeting final decisions were reached on 100 posters the group is having made to aid the Contra Costa County Adoption Unit in recruitment of adoptive homes.

Guests at the meeting were Mesdames James Guald, David Shrum, Wayne Thompson and A. P. Bower of Concord, and Gene Arena of Lafayette.

In her regular agency report, Muriel Nelson, advisor to the auxiliary and supervisor at the Contra Costa County Adoption Unit in Martinez, advised the group that the adoption unit offices will be moved in July.

New furnishings for the nursery where adoptive parents first see their child will be needed, she said.

She also stated that the agency has relaxed a number of its requirements. Families may apply regardless of the number of children they have and regardless of the length of their marriage."

C. F. Lohse Is Acalanes District Board Candidate

Charles F. Lohse of Orinda has filed to run on the board of trustees of the Acalanes Union High School District, and is the only person so running from Orinda. The election will be held April 18.

A resident of Orinda for 12 years, Lohse has played an active role in the development of the community. For many years he was chairman of the Financial Advisory Committee of the Orinda Nursery School. He is also past president of the Parents Club of the Orinda Union School.

"BEING president of the Parents Club put me in the unique position of working with both the parents and the school and made me more aware than ever of the importance of local control of our educational system," said Lohse.

With his wife, Betsy, and his three daughters (Betty, 13; Sara, 10; and Deborah, 7), Lohse lives on Mira Loma Road in Orinda. "I am interested in the best possible education for not only my own children but for all the children in the district."

"I believe in more and better teaching of the fundamentals. My family was very much involved in the educational system in Piedmont; so consequently I grew up hearing and thinking about this throughout my youth, and my interest has never faltered."

LOHSE HAS been with Crown Zellerbach Corporation in San Francisco for 17 years and is responsible for the recruiting, selection, and development of the marketing manpower.

"My department comes into constant contact with youth from the various high schools, colleges, and universities. This makes me very much aware that we cannot relax but should constantly strive to improve our schools."

"Also, as the schools are the primary place where the Free-World doctrine is instilled, I would be interested in seeing if

Sheriff's Reserve Members Wanted

County sheriff's office is now receiving applications for membership in the Sheriff's Reserve organization.

At this time there is a need to build up the group assigned to duty in the western portion of Contra Costa County. This group works within the area of patrol assigned to the Richmond sub-station.

Applications will also be received for work in other parts of the county.

Membership is restricted to men with the following qualifications:

Applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 45 years, have high school education or equivalent, a minimum height 5'7", and must successfully pass a physical examination based on accepted life insurance company standards.

The Sheriff's Reserve is a completely voluntary organization. Members donate their services and equip themselves at no cost to the taxpayers of the county.

Any donation received for their services are directed into a welfare fund established to cover costs of compensation insurance and maintenance of personal equipment.

Career Exploration Again Available for Students

Plans for the third annual Career Exploration course of the Acalanes High School District summer school were made last week by the Citizens Advisory Committee.

Community leaders of Walnut Creek, Lafayette and Orinda will work on this committee to secure job openings for students of all four high schools of the district in fields which they indicate as possible career choices.

STUDENTS will make application for experience in any vocation or profession which they are considering as a career. Selected applicants will be placed in jobs which will give them a realistic experience of the actual scope of the career which they are considering.

At the conclusion of the summer school period they will be able to decide if their choice has been a wise one for their future careers. They will be better able to plan their training and education after graduation from high school.

PIONEERED as a community sponsored program in Orinda two years ago, the Career Exploration course was offered as a pilot program of the Acalanes High School District to Miramonte students last year. Mrs. Betty Chilers have been very well satisfied with them, and all those who accepted students in former years are glad to continue in the program."

STUDENTS may make application for the course at the counseling office of each high school during the month of April. Enrollment will be limited to 50 students of the sophomore and junior classes.

The Citizens Advisory Committee is composed of the following community leaders: Walnut Creek, Judge Betsy Rahn, Bert Daniels, William M. Francis, Cecil B. Miller, King Parker and Verne Snedden; Lafayette, Dr. Howard Gardner, Dr. Edward R. Legon and Rawlings Simon; Orinda, Mrs. Richard Leland, James Campbell, Kirk Miles, Dr. Paul Slattery and Ken White.

GETTING AROUND

. . . to Our Pleasant Places and People

FRED T. GILLEY TELLS us that the Harry E. Thomasons, who live in District Heights, Maryland, heated their house comfortably last winter—for $4.65!—by trapping and storing heat from the sun. The solar-heating system also gives a full-blooming flower garden in early spring and year-round swimming in a 2,000-gallon outdoor pool and air-conditions in summer by trapping and storing "coolness" at night.

Correspondent Helen S. Phillips reports the following curious sight: 200 pheasants belonging to retired optician V. C. Norwood, of Arvada, Colorado, all wearing red spectacles. It seems that pheasants are prone to peck each other to death unless something is done to prevent it, and Dr. Norwood explains that the red blinders spoil a bird's aim. The glasses come with small plastic hooks that slip into the bird's nostrils. "I have less trouble fitting my pheasants than I did my human patients," says Dr. Norwood. "No complaints, either."

The latest slogan of a Hopkins, Minnesota, realty firm is "Sell by Noon or Else!"—Carl H. Noon, that is, new sales manager of the Vincent Else Realty company.

The fathers' group of an organization called Parents Without Partners meets once a month, in Freeport, New York, to discuss in an informal atmosphere the problems that widowed and divorced fathers have with their children.

Imagine the chagrin of Police Officer Fred Kellogg out in Ferndale, Michigan, who stood by as an irate motorist tore up a one-dollar ticket for overparking, right in front of the patrolman, and scattered the pieces all over the sidewalk. Mr. Kellogg didn't panic, however. He simply gave the offender a $5 ticket for littering.

Honor students of the Reading, Massachusetts, high school who get at least three A's, one B, and no grade below B don't have to go to class, says Principal Ara A. Karakashian. The plan is a reward for excellence and requires that the lucky dozen who thus far have qualified must report to school, attend homeroom period, keep current on all assignments, and go to regularly scheduled quizzes and exams—but they don't have to go to class if they decide that independent study would be of greater benefit to them.

When the Monroe Stambaughs, weekend guests of the George Allison, of Glen Burnie, Maryland, went home to Middletown Township, New Jersey, they took one of the Allison's carrier pigeons with them, so they could send a thank-you note via this special air mail. The bird delivered the note three hours after it was released, 200 miles from the Allison house.

There's a large illuminated sign on a well-appointed hostelry near Hallandale, Florida, that announces: "We Honor Diners' Club—Hilton—American Express—Also Cash."

GETTING AROUND

The Mercer Island, Washington, fire department needed some practice, so members set fire to a house and went through all the motions while the house burned to the ground. Nobody was arrested for arson, though, because the boys were only doing a favor for the power and light company, which had the house scheduled for wrecking and gave the boys the opportunity to exercise the fire-fighting equipment.

Now, Mrs. David Zauder's sixth-grade class at the Fairfax School in Cleveland Heights, Ohio, wanted an aquarium, but they didn't just sit around hoping someone would give them one—they went to work and earned the money for a five-gallon tank, fully stocked with tropical fish. Their novel fund-raising project consisted of setting up a car-washing business after school in Susan Files' driveway. Bringing rags and soap from home, 23 children washed 13 cars and, with tips, raised $12.36. When they added $7.18 previously collected from tax-stamp collections and penny fines for messy desks and talking out of turn, they had more than enough for the tank and fish. They've even started a bank account in the name of "Moneymakers of Room 208" and plan to save money from other projects to buy a reflector for their aquarium. What's next, Moneymakers?

The secretary to the minister at the Baptist Temple Church in Alexandria, Virginia, is Mrs. Lillian Scripture.

Mrs. Claire Baker Ulmer runs a motel in Shades Valley, Alabama, for healthy dogs and cats who are on vacation from their owners. It's almost like any other motel you've ever seen—located on the highway, with an office where the animals register and with a unit for each animal. It could even be mistaken for a regular human hostelry—except that it's about half as high, and there's a big illuminated sign that reads, "No People Allowed."

Esther Wortell informs us so much clothing is usually thrown away during spring cleaning in her Skokie, Illinois, neighborhood that last year the P.T.A. decided to do something about it. They organized a drive, and picked up cast-off clothing that was then distributed to less fortunate people in other neighborhoods. Since this is just about spring-cleaning time again, why not follow suit this year and call your favorite local charitable organization that collects old clothing—and furniture, too—and let them have it instead of throwing it away?

The Brentwood, Missouri, police department is putting on the dog these days—and drawing high praise from everybody in the neighborhood for it, too. The dog is Smokey, graduate of the St. Louis police department's canine school, who forms one half of Brentwood's first specially trained canine patrol. With Patrolman Charles W. Mayer, Smokey will search buildings for burglars and track lost persons, particularly stray children.

I'd Rather Write Than Be President

BY MAX SHULMAN

From the age of four it was write or bust, says the author of "Barefoot Boy With

"The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis" (1,500,000 copies), "Rally Round The Flag, Boys"

DRAWINGS BY MIKE RAMUS

AT THE BEGINNING all I knew was that I wanted to write . . . Correction: had to write. Nothing else would serve; nothing else beckoned. It was write or bust.

So I wrote. From the age of four I scrawled verses and stories which have mercifully not been preserved. And I told stories. I wandered the neighborhood, a kind of Homer in knickers, telling tales to whoever would listen for as long as they would listen.

I was born in St. Paul, Minn., on March 14, 1919, the son of poor but honest parents. My father was a house painter when he worked, which was scarcely at all between 1929 and 1939. My mother was a lady with an agile tongue and a conviction that the Depression was entirely my father's fault. Home life was not tranquil. When I was twelve I got a newspaper route. When I was fifteen I took up snooker and found a job driving a grocery truck.

All the time I kept writing. I did stories and a column for the school paper and magazine, but mostly I wrote poems for the edification of my friends. Commemorative poems, you might call them. For example, my friends and I would spend a jolly evening ogling girls or shooting craps, and I would appear next day with a poem of thirty verses celebrating the event. Often these were set to traditional airs, suitable for four-part harmony.

I know now why I wrote these poems. They gave me status in the gang. I had no money, no clothes, no car, no height, looks, athletic ability, fighting ability. All I had to separate me from the hangers-on was the ability to compose purple verses, and with these I bought prestige.

I know now, too, why I turned early to humor as my branch of writing. The reason is simply that life was bitter and I was not. All around me was poverty and sordidness but I refused to see it that way. By turning it into jokes, I made it bearable.

Today I write humor for quite another reason. Life today is sweet, not bitter, and comic distortion is no longer necessary to protect my bleeding ego. However, I have learned that comic distortion is a difficult and highly paid craft. Having gained this firm foothold in the durable joke business, I would be a fool to leave it now and start as an apprentice in some other department of writing.

Let me hasten to add that I do not consider that I have mastered the humor business. I don't think I'll live that long. I am learning constantly—not just ancillary bits and pieces to add to my main body of knowledge, but big important concepts that sometimes sweep out and replace what I had previously regarded as basic principles. For instance, I had always thought that the joke was the building block of humor, but today I know that the joke is the enemy of humor. Jokes piled end on end—and I have done it; oh brother, have I done it!—do not make a work of humor. Humor is not jokes; it is reality, it is familiarity, it is identifiability seen through a comic lens. To construct a humorous work, you do not compound incongruities; you tell a story—a serious story about real people—and you infuse it with the comic spirit.

TO GET BACK to biographical matters, I entered the University of Minnesota when I was 17. I was still shooting pool and chasing ridiculous girls and writing lyrics, and so I flunked out in my freshman year. I spent the next year working in a grocery store. The hours were so long that many nights I was too tired to go out on the town with my buddies. So I started reading books.

That did it. Books rekindled my literary drive. The next year I returned to the University and this time it took. I got my B.A. in 1942.

College was for me a time of such happiness that today I'm still writing about it. In college I met the girl who is now my wife, I made friends who are still my friends. And I wrote. I did a humor column on the student daily. I worked four years on the campus humor magazine and ended up as editor.

PHOTOGRAPH BY INGE MORATH

"Cheek" (1,000,000 copies)

(2,000,000 copies)

In May, 1942, just before my graduation, Ken McCormick, editor-in-chief of Doubleday, came through Minneapolis on a cross-country talent hunt. Somebody showed him my college columns and he asked me whether I would write a book. I would have been less surprised if he had asked me to fly to Mars. However, I was young and dumb and too green to panic, so I sat down and wrote Barefoot Boy With Cheek. Doubleday published the book in 1943 with trepidation—you might say, stealthily—but somehow the college kids turned it into a runaway, making me like the rookie who goes to bat for the first time in the big leagues and knocks it out of the park.

Luckily, I didn't have time to ponder my success. In October, 1942, just after finishing Barefoot Boy, I was inducted into the Air Force as a flying cadet, but washed out immediately for insufficient coordination, faulty eyesight, and morbid fear of propellers.

I was put in public relations and wrote "How To Fly" manuals in Texas and Oklahoma, but at night, on Sundays, on furloughs, I wrote for myself. I turned out two novels—The Feather Merchants and The Zebra Derby—and a couple of dozen short stories.

After the war, at George Abbott's request, I tried my first play—a musical version of Barefoot Boy With Cheek, which opened and closed in the spring of 1947. I licked my wounds and paid my bills with a raft of short stories and a novel called Sleep Till Noon, published in 1950. In 1951 I had a collection of short stories called The Many Loves Of Dobie Gillis.

In 1951-'53 I made a series of daring daylight robberies in Hollywood. I sold them six original stories, some of which reached the screen. The stories were not too bad, but Hollywood in this period was in a state of shock because of the inroads made by television, and the moguls were simply too shaky to make good movies.

In 1954 I wrote a play with Robert Paul Smith, The Tender Trap. It had a good run on Broadway and was made into a fine movie with Frank Sinatra.

In 1955 I compiled an anthology called Max Shulman's Guided Tour of Campus Humor. Then, in 1956, after many alarms and false starts, I finally buckled down to write the book that had been gnawing at the base of my skull for years. It was Rally Round The Flag, Boys, and I still like it. Whatever its faults—and it has plenty—it is the only book I ever wrote that came out exactly as I planned it.

In October, 1959, I made my maiden voyage into television with my old friend Dobie Gillis. I am pleased to report that the show is still around every Tuesday on CBS.

MY HOME is in Westport, Connecticut. My wife's name is Carol and we have been married for 18 years. We have four children: Dan, 17; Bud, 16; Peter, 13; and Martha, 11.

I have no hobbies, except croquet, which I play very seriously. I belong to no clubs except the unions of my trade. I am a Democrat, weigh 136 pounds and stand 5'6".

My future plans are to spend one more year in television, write one more play and one more novel and then hang up the gloves. I'm tired...

Just the same, I know of no happier way to earn a living—provided, of course, that a measure of success attends your efforts. When I began writing I made every mistake in the book. I have a vast store to draw from for the teaching I do now through the Famous Writers School and it is my earnest hope that I have come up with a tip or two which will keep anyone else from making the same mistakes. This is my advice:

- The oldest cliché in the writing business is "Write about what you know about." Like all clichés this is true.

Your own life is your largest source of material. This is not to say that you must live everything you write; as you learn your craft, as you acquire technique, you will be able to handle all kinds of plots and situations of which you have no personal knowledge.

But in the beginning write about yourself, your family, your friends, your home, your neighborhood. Shape the material—give it form and direction. Arrange it as your story requires—but basically write about yourself.

- A plot is simply this: a problem and a solution. Be sure your people are in a real problem. Be sure the solution is plausible.

What you're after in popular fiction is not truth but plausibility. Motivate carefully. Make each event in your story an inevitable outgrowth of preceding events.

- If finding names to suit your characters is difficult, the telephone book is a big help.

- I am never without a notebook in my pocket—nor should you be. You never know when a bright notion for a story will strike you. The mind, being a capricious organ, often lets you forget some truly valuable ideas. If you have a notebook and make your notes instantly, you don't have to rely on your memory.

- Don't show your manuscript to anyone at frequent intervals during its composition. You cannot expect a baby to be born if you pull it out every few hours and pass it around. There may come a point in the composition of a story when you are stuck and need help—but try your best to lick your problem by yourself. As a general rule it's wise not to show a story until it is completed.

- In my early years I was hell-bent on becoming a humorist and so I read the humorists—read them

Max Shulman weighs 136 pounds, stands 5'6", and is a very busy man. Currently he is working on a play and a novel and a humor column and a TV show. He also serves, with eleven other famous writers, on the faculty of the Famous Writers School in Westport, Connecticut, where he teaches his "difficult and highly paid craft" by correspondence to students all over the country.

New Kraft Barbecue Sauce brings real cook-out flavor right indoors!

It's the sauce that simmers real outdoor flavor right into the meat

If you're one of the charcoal chefs who discovered new Kraft Barbecue Sauce last summer, you know what happens once the heat starts that sauce simmering. Those spicy flavors seep right into the meat and keep it good and juicy. And the same wonderful thing happens when you use Kraft Barbecue Sauce indoors—right in your own oven. Try it yourself and see—the saucy sauce made by Kraft with nineteen herbs and spices.

and studied them. I knew every word of Lardner, Benchley, Perelman, Thurber, Ade, Twain and all the rest.

This is an approach to reading which I could recommend to the student writer. Find the people who write as you would like to and study them. Today my style, such as it is, is formed and I no longer have to read for instruction—I can read for pleasure.

The authors I enjoy most now are Dos- toevski and Shakespeare. These are two more writers I would recommend to a be- ginning writer because they illuminate every corner of the human soul.

● If you are using a character from real life, change him enough so that he can't be identified.

In fact, the very changing of factual characters is an integral part of the writer's art and should give you pride and satis- faction.

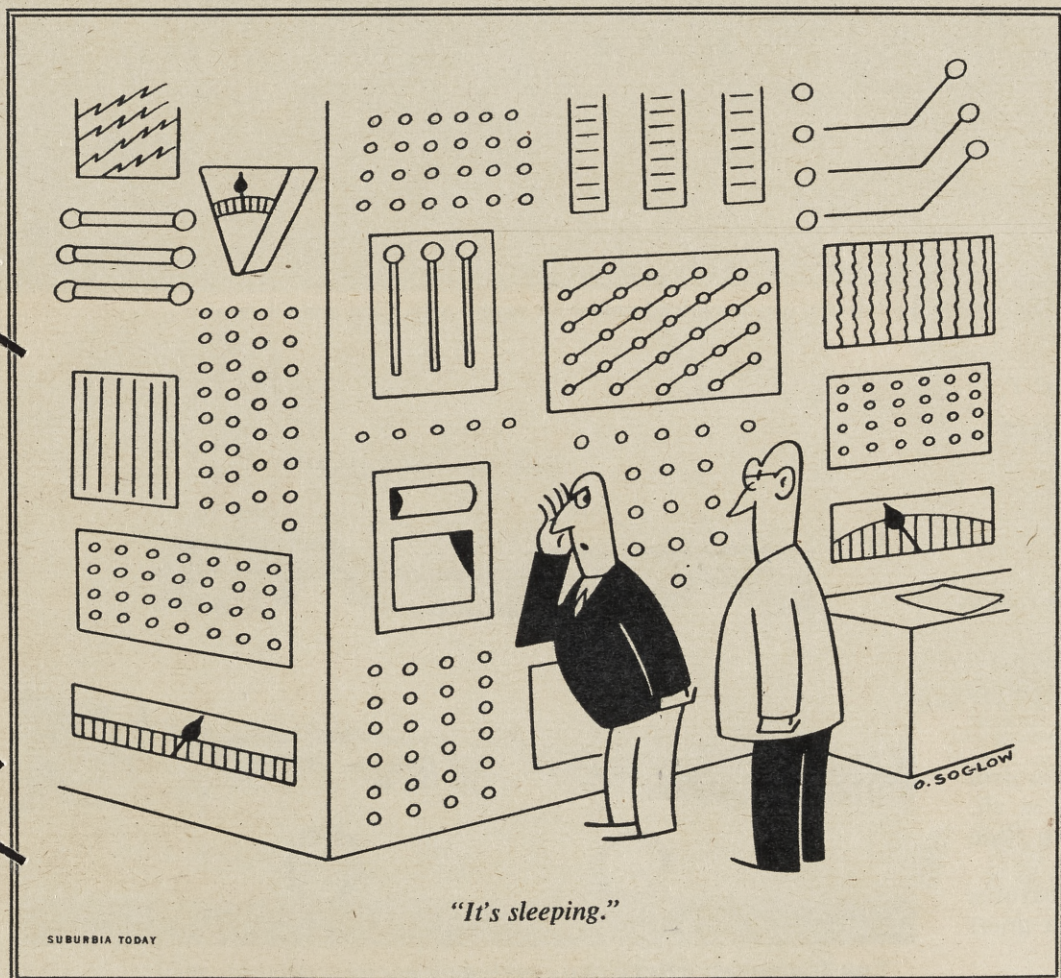

● There is always an unseen attendant looking over my shoulder when I am at the typewriter. He represents the reader I am trying to reach. When I have to make a de- cision between my taste and his, I always yield to his.

● The background of your story can be of enormous added value. If you can paint an exotic picture, if you can evoke a nostalgic mood, you cannot help but captivate a reader. Beware, however, of piling up de- tail for the sake of detail. Never let descrip- tion get in the way of your story.

● The writing of humor in television is not stringing a lot of jokes together; it is telling a story which is plausible, believable, well- motivated, well-plotted and funny. The rules of composition, the rules of fiction, the rules of dramatic writing all continue to apply when you're writing humor. Besides, you have got an additional problem of making your story funny.

Get Ready, Get Set, BEFORE You Go

Going abroad? Here are a dozen tips for leaving the home fires properly banked and making the most of a wonderful trip

BY LUIS AND JO VILLALON

THERE'S NO TRICK to sailing," as the saying goes. "You just have to know what to do and do it before it's necessary."

It's the same way with going to Europe. There are some things you have to be forehanded about, some questions you'll want answered now, before you pull down a suitcase or take your first shot. For instance:

Your Homework: On the façade of the Union Station in our nation's capital are graven the words of an old Spanish proverb, "He who would bring home the wealth of the Indies must carry the wealth of the Indies with him"—or, to put it in plain English, "You get out of a travel (or other) experience what you bring to it."

So it behooves you to learn or review as much as you can beforehand of the places you plan to visit—something doubly important if you are taking youngsters along. Encourage them to do reports for history or geography on the countries you'll touch, and guide the family conversations to such subjects. Their imagination and interest captured in advance will do much to offset the strangeness and weariness bound to be encountered on the trip. (If you are taking children, make more exact reservations, slow down your traveling pace, be prepared to be flexible.)

Consult your librarian—and, by all means, try to get hold of those gems (published both in the language of the country and in English) called the Michelin Guides. What they don't tell you about Chambord or the Sistine Chapel isn't worth knowing.

Taking A Chance On Making Reservations When You Get There? You'll be safer, without reservations, if you are driving. You can get out of the center of cities, and even to adjoining towns if necessary. And there is really always an inn. But, in season, prepare to stop early and to waste a considerable amount of valuable time finding the "right" place. And in some cities like Rome and Paris, you often wonder whether there is any out-of-season!

Your best friends are your guidebooks, the countries' own hotel listings—if, like Switzerland, they have one—and the local tourist-information center, where they just may speak English.

Travel Agent—Help Or Hindrance? To be honest, it all depends on which travel agent. There are the real pros—and there are the dabblers. The able travel agent is in constant contact with "the market" and knows lots of things you don't about availability, conditions, fares, and routes. And he doesn't cost you a nickel; he gets his

Concentrated Ken-L-Biskit provides twice the power of lean beefsteak!*

And unlike so many other dry dog foods, Ken-L-Biskit is not "blown up." This means, cup for cup, there's more protein, more vitamins, more minerals, more of every nutrient your dog is known to need.

Because Ken-L-Biskit does so much more, you can feed less of it. Hence a most happy economy. And slow oven baking enriches the great flavor of Ken-L-Biskit. Makes for best digestibility, too.

fee from the airlines, ships, and hotels he sends you to.

There are a number of things he doesn't know. Unless he has been there, he can tell you less about the hotels, trains, restaurants, and so forth in a given country than can an up-to-date travel book. And, most important, he doesn't know what you want unless you tell him. Tell him what kind of hotels you like. Be frank about how much you want to pay. It's your trip—not his. Go to him prepared with a firm list of what you really want to see, and don't be diverted. He's an agent—not your alter ego.

There are only two ways to check on his competence. If information he offers doesn't generally agree with what you find in a good travel guide or in the country's own literature, check up and find out who's right. If he's not, be careful of the rest of his advice. And if he is molasses-slow getting answers to your questions, beware doubly.

Sunday Driving Every Day. If you've fought your way in or out of a big city on a holiday weekend, and occasionally beaten out a taxi driver, you can drive in Europe. Not that you'll encounter anything like the volume of traffic, but you'll need confidence, steel nerves, and know-how to get you there.

As far as the road signs go, you won't believe it until you see for yourself how easy it is to follow the highways and the rules of the road with the help of the graphic little picture markers that are used identically in every country.

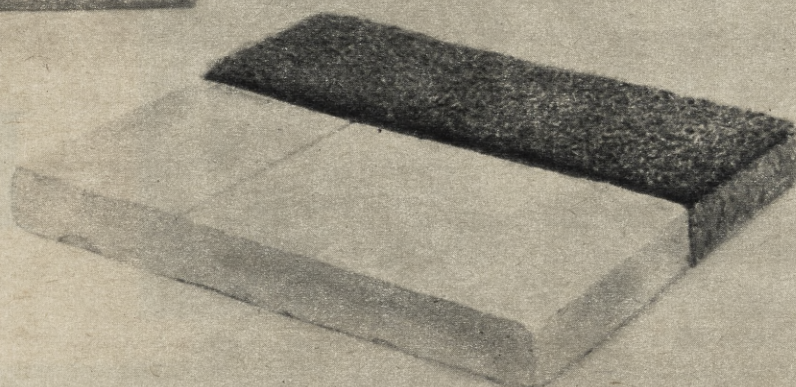

Except for rare instances, everything you have ever heard or read about European horn-tooting is horribly true. Somehow your nervous system will finally adjust to the noise, as will your reflexes to the habit of flashing your own lights and blowing your own horn when you're going to pass, and using only your lowest lights in cities—a custom they feel very strongly about, no matter how poorly lighted the city is. Italy is in a class all by itself, and a good thing to do at the border is to offer up a prayer to the patron saint of travelers.

Gas stations are almost as plentiful in most countries as at home, and you'll see many a familiar name (though your U.S. credit card won't be good). Best driver's tools are a good European map (you'd better get one at home and

Fine Art?

BY IVAN DMITRI

Director of "Photography In The Fine Arts" Exhibits

Look at the photographs on these pages and judge for yourself

IF YOU ARE A STUDENT of art and you wish to see examples of the finest work produced in the past, where do you go? To the museums, of course. So, too, with prints, etchings, and drawings. Now, if a student of photography wishes to see fine photographs, where can he go? In most cities the answer is nowhere, really. Most museums haven't even got a photography department.

We are aiming to correct this through The Project, as we call "Photography In The Fine Arts." We want to rouse the museum curators to the fact that the best work being done in photography deserves to be hung alongside Renoir and Picasso and Rembrandt and other masters. Incidentally, many photographers need rousing, too.

This project has been a dream of mine for over 20 years. Three years ago I decided to add my efforts to the good work that has already been done, so I left my job as a working photographer.

My first step, and the big one, was to gather together a committee of art experts from all over the country who agreed to judge photographs submitted by a variety of sources such as photo agencies, national magazines, and camera clubs—and PFA was launched.

There have been two different touring exhibits since we began. Each year a panel of judges selects what it considers aesthetic photography, works that will stand the test of time . . . that are indeed works of art.

And what makes a photograph a work of art? What qualities do all of these pictures have in common that make them worthy of being hung in museums all over the world? They were judged, first, as any other work of art would be. Form, composition, perspective, technique, movement, and emotion were some of the factors considered. But, as we know, a work of art is more than this.

AS ONE JUROR put it, each one of these, when you come upon it suddenly, has such vitality that it "makes the pulse jump slightly." Each is more than just a careful record of reality—is rather an expression of a great moment, a great idea, caught forever on film. They are not all beautiful moments, although in art all that excites is beautiful. Some are tragic, some historical, some even ugly, but never aesthetically ugly.

Our juries receive no instructions other than to seek out the great photographs, those inspiring this sudden shock of recognition, those that they feel will outlive their subject matter, even the memory of their subject matter.

We've had plenty of opposition, often by potent influences in the field of photography. Edward Steichen, a great photographer and director of the Department of Photography at New York's Museum of Modern Art, has called our project "the most damaging thing that has ever happened to the art of photography." He has accused us of being "slipshod" in our methods of collecting photographs for our jury. We've also been attacked by some of the trade publications in the field, one of which published a story after our first exhibit opened, entitled, "The Day Photography Got Kicked In The Head."

Our second exhibit is now on tour in 28 museums around the United States and in several foreign countries. We expect the storm of controversy to increase as the exhibit tours, but this can be good. We welcome all constructive criticism; we learn from it. The more people who come, who see, who talk and argue, the better.

We believe that photography as a fine art must eventually be accepted by almost every museum and gallery in the world. Perhaps it will happen within the next six or seven years. And when it does, we will happily go out of business.

BUFFET ELEGANCE

MELANIE De PROFT, Food Editor

An epicure's delight is this roast pork shoulder with a subtly
flavored rice stuffing.

CAVIAR

For the ultimate in appetizers, set out a tray holding small bowls filled with fresh Beluga caviar, coarsely chopped onion, chopped hard-cooked egg, whites and yolks separate, and thick sour cream. Accompany with a basket of Melba toast and pumpernickel slices. Allow guests to spoon any combination they desire onto the toast or bread.

FRESH HAM WITH EXOTIC STUFFING

TO PREPARE: 40 MIN.

TO ROAST: 4½-5½ HRS.

- 1 6- to 8-lb. boned fresh ham (leg of pork) or lean shoulder

- 1 10½-oz. can condensed beef bouillon, undiluted
- 1 teaspoon salt

- ½ teaspoon garlic powder
- ½ teaspoon marjoram
- 1 teaspoon seasoned salt
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon black pepper

2. Heat butter in a large skillet. Add rice and onion and cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until rice is light brown. Stir in bouillon and 1 teaspoon salt; cover tightly and simmer over very low heat 15 min. Combine with celery, bread cubes, pineapple, raisins, and a mixture of curry powder, garlic powder, marjoram, and seasoned salt; blend thoroughly, tossing lightly with a fork.

3. Rub inside surface of flattened leg or shoulder with a mixture of 1 teaspoon salt and the pepper.

4. Spread dressing over meat; roll lengthwise, secure firmly with skewers, and lace tightly. (Any leftover stuffing may be baked in a greased casserole; place in oven about 1 hr. before meat is done.)

5. Rub outside of meat with the ginger, then place on rack in shallow roasting pan.

6. Roast at 325°F 4½ to 5½ hrs. (allow 45 min. per lb.), or until roast-meat thermometer registers 185°F. (If using a thermometer, insert in meat and not in stuffing.) During last 30 min. of roasting, occasionally spoon reserved pineapple sirup over roast.

7. Remove from oven and let stand at least 20 min. before slicing. Place on a warm platter and garnish with pineapple rings and spiced crab apples. If desired, make pan gravy with drippings in roasting pan.

DOBOS TORTE

Delicate layers, velvety rich chocolate filling, and a crunchy caramel-like topping were the inspiration of a gifted Hungarian pastry chef named Dobos.

TO PREPARE: 45 MIN.

TO BAKE: ABOUT 15 MIN.

Hungarian Chocolate Frosting

(see recipe)

- 6 egg yolks
- ¼ cup sugar
- 6 egg whites
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 cup sifted flour
- ¾ cup confectioners' sugar

1. Prepare Hungarian Chocolate Frosting.
2. For Torte—grease bottoms only of six 8-in. round layer-cake pans; line bottoms with waxed paper cut to fit; grease paper. Set aside.
3. Beat egg yolks and ¼ cup sugar together until very thick and lemon colored; set aside.
4. Using clean bowl and beaters, beat egg whites until frothy. Gradually add ¼ cup sugar, beating well after each addition. Beat until rounded peaks are formed and egg whites do not slide when bowl is partially inverted.
5. Gently spread egg-yolk mixture over beaten egg whites. Sift one-fourth of the flour at a time over surface and gently fold until just blended after each addition. Do not overmix! Spoon equal amounts of batter into cake pans and spread evenly.
6. Stagger pans in oven and bake at 350°F about 15 min., or until lightly browned. Remove torte layers to cooling racks.
7. Carefully and quickly invert layers onto the racks. Beginning at center, tear paper and gently pull it off. Place layers, right side up, on cooling racks and cool completely.
8. To assemble torte, beat the chilled frosting until fluffy. Spread ½ in. thick on four of the torte layers; stack layers. Add fifth layer, but do not frost top. Spread frosting thinly on sides of torte. Put the five layers and remaining frosting in refrigerator.
9. Meanwhile, place the sixth layer on a shallow baking sheet. Mark into 16 to 18 wedge-shaped pieces with back of knife blade; do not cut wedges apart. Grease a small area of the baking sheet around the torte layer (so topping will not stick to baking sheet if it runs off).
10. For Topping—stirring constantly, melt confectioners' sugar in a small, heavy skillet over low heat until sugar is smooth and golden brown. Remove from heat and quickly pour onto top layer of torte. Spread topping evenly over layer with a spatula, working rapidly before sugar hardens. With back of knife blade, make indentations over those marked in torte layer. Then cut wedges apart.

11. Remove the stacked layers and frosting from refrigerator. Beat frosting until fluffy. Spread frosting ¼ in. thick on top of fifth layer and arrange wedges on top of it. Frost sides of sixth layer. Using a pastry bag and a decorating tube, pipe a border of frosting around top edge of torte. Chill in refrigerator until frosting is firm. 16 to 18 servings

HUNGARIAN CHOCOLATE FROSTING

TO PREPARE AND COOK: 30 MIN.

- 4 sq. (4 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, melted
- 8 hazelnuts (filberts)
- 1 cup firm unsalted butter
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup sugar
- ¼ cup water
- 6 egg yolks

1. Set chocolate aside to cool. Heat nuts in a 400°F oven 3 to 5 min., or until skins are loosened and nuts are lightly toasted. Remove from oven, cool slightly, and remove skins. Chop nuts finely and set aside.
2. Cream butter and extract together until butter is light and fluffy. Set aside.
3. Mix sugar and water together in a small saucepan, cover, and bring sirup to boiling over low heat. Uncover pan, set candy thermometer in place, and continue cooking sirup to 230° F (sirup spins a 2-in. thread when allowed to drop from tip of a spoon).
4. Meanwhile, beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Beating constantly, pour the hot sirup very gradually in a thin stream into egg yolks. (Do not scrape pan.) Beat egg-yolk mixture until very thick and of same consistency as the creamed butter. Cool completely. Beat egg-yolk mixture, about 2 tablespoonfuls at a time, into butter until just blended. Adding gradually, beat in chocolate and hazelnuts. Set in refrigerator to chill until ready to use. 3 cups frosting

Now! 4 Onion Dressings no one can buy

The very first onion dressings
...make them with this new GOOD SEASONS MIX!

Good Seasons Onion Dressing. So different, so delicious. A light, fresh dressing with an herb-spice base, flecks of sweet, red peppers, and a provocative touch of onion. Flavorful, but never sharp! Takes just seconds to mix. Easy directions are on the Good Seasons envelope. You combine your favorite oil, vinegar and a little water with the Mix. The water, or a substitute liquid, makes the blend smoother. (A continental chef's secret!) You can use many substitutes, vary the dressing to your own special taste. See the recipes below for delicious suggestions.

Creamy Onion Dressing for Cole Slaw. Prepare the Good Seasons Dressing but substitute either sour cream or mayonnaise for the water. This dressing, stirred into shredded cabbage salads, ends all that teary business of chopping onions. And the flavor is evenly distributed, subtle.

Onion-Orange Dressing. In making the dressing, use orange juice instead of water. New and very good on all fruit salads. Or, on a green salad that has either orange sections or canned mandarin oranges (so easy), and a sprinkle of blue cheese chunks. hooray!

Tomato-Onion Dressing with Sweet Pickle. Substitute chili sauce or catsup for the water. Final touch: add 1 tablespoon chopped sweet pickle. A smooth and zesty dressing, to brighten green salads, sea food, cottage cheese.

Get the new Good Seasons cruet, with measurements marked, where you buy the 7 Mixes: Italian, Classic, Garlic, Cheese-Garlic, Onion, Bleu Cheese, Exotic Herbs.

ARE YOU STILL IN THE OVEN, MR. TALBOT?

BY HERBERT BREAN

Interested amateurs by the thousands are thronging to cooking schools for an education in good eating

Joseph Hyde makes a fine point.

RECENTLY a young man named Joseph Hyde got a letter at his home in Palisades, New York, enclosing a small, poorly made French crêpe, or pancake. With it was a note asking whether, in his valued opinion—he is a teacher of high-level cooking—this crêpe had been correctly made. Hyde replied in the most direct way possible: he made a proper crêpe and mailed it back.

James R. Beard, another cooking teacher, periodically gets long-distance calls from a Houston matron who talks to him for an hour or more about what food and wine to serve at her next party. Beard suggests a menu and discusses preparations, and the matron gladly pays the charges, including Beard's fee for a private lesson: $25.

In Los Angeles a group of epicures take turns cooking elaborate dinners based on historical menus. One couple spent 11 months doing research on how the ancient Romans prepared certain foods, then reproduced a Lucullan feast.

All this points to the fact that the U.S. is in the grip of a new craze: to know good food, learn to prepare it, and eat it—often. "Gourmet" restaurants are springing up everywhere. Herb-and-spice sales are multiplying dizzily: one California concern has increased its gross from some half-million dollars to $10 million annually in the past decade. The sale of such exotica as whisks, copper dishes, and pastry sacks is mounting like the 1929 bull market. All kinds of culinary clubs—eating, learning, or knowledge sharing—stud the country from Boston's Beacon Hill Wednesday Night Buffet (six elegant dinners a year) to San Francisco's YWCA classes in Japanese-and-Chinese cooking, and Dallas's "Happy Pots" Club. Enthusiasm is such that one student—a Philadelphia dentist—commuted to New York twice a week for months to take lessons from Helen Worth, who has taught 15,000 students. When Joseph Hyde gave a cooking class as part of the humanities program at UCLA last year, the turnout was unprecedented—342 men and women.

COOKING CLASSES divide into two kinds, demonstrations and group participations. Participation classes are usually small—six to ten students at a sitting. They are conducted in light, handsome, superbly equipped kitchens. Two of the best known are James Beard's, where 8 lessons cost $125 plus food costs, and that of Dione Lucas, where six lessons cost $100, including food. Students range from fashion models, middle-aged housewives, and big-name actresses to lawyers, advertising men with food accounts, and private cooks, often sent by their employers. Men usually are in the minority, but not necessarily a conspicuous one. Thanks to the charcoal broiler, thousands of American males already know something of the pleasures of being a chef.

The enormously accelerating interest in food is best illustrated by the career of Joseph Hyde, a 32-year-old scion of a well-to-do family and a master of the demonstration technique in cooking schools. He has devoted himself to cooking with the same ardor that leads other scions into Wall Street, law, or banking. Not long after college, he was drafted for the Korean War and asked if he would serve in an army kitchen. He boldly replied he would—if he could be assured a supply of wine to cook with. A warrant officer, badly in need of a cook, agreed to wangle it for him.

What followed constitutes a new episode in Army cuisine which might be entitled, "Tom Swift and his Electric Hot Plate." Hyde's company was assigned to a front-line group in Korea, where the chow was sent up to combat troops in huge thermos jugs that steamed everything—steak, potatoes, spaghetti, hamburger. Cook Hyde decided good stew was better than rubbery steak and so transformed the steak into a subtly flavored ragout. Hamburger became a delicate meat sauce combined with macaroni and cheese in layers. To boiled potatoes, he added parsley, butter, and lemon juice to make parsley potatoes. The amazed front lines never had it so good.

AFTER THE WAR, Hyde got a post as apprentice at $57 a month in the noted Nandron restaurant in Lyon, the culinary capital of France. He was soon introduced not only to a French kitchen but to traditional kitchen hazing. Given a bushel basket of larks to pluck, he was told to work crouched under the sink where he became a target for sloshing dishwater. He plucked the larks without complaining, but the hazing à la française continued; some days later, in an effort to get the new apprentice drunk, the chefs put on a wine-drinking contest, drawing on a reserve smuggled from the restaurant's wine cellar. Hyde came through with flying colors; the other chefs got plastered.

His age was a major embarrassment. The average chef's apprentice in France is 13, and under municipal law Hyde had to attend the apprentice's school, where, as some distinguished chef lectured, the 13-year-olds occasionally took to throwing spitballs. For punishment they had to line up facing the wall for long minutes—Hyde, with the rest.

ARE YOU STILL IN THE OVEN,

In time he moved from Nandron to nearby Vienne, where he became assistant fish cook at La Pyramide, a world-famous restaurant.

WHEN HIS apprenticeship was completed, he returned to the U.S. and began teaching. Using the continental demonstration method in his classes, which are growing steadily, he does all cooking in full view of his students, explaining as he goes and climaxing the performance by giving them all a taste of each dish.

In cooking classes, most teachers try for an atmosphere of informality. But sometimes things get hectic.

"You have to keep five clocks going in your mind all the time," says Juliette Elkon, watching over half a dozen beginners at once. Under such circumstances, a culinary shorthand emerges. "Are you still in the oven, Mr. Talbot?" she may ask. "I'm afraid you're burning, Mrs. James." Or, "You're rising well, Mrs. Cameron."

Interested amateurs are thronging to cooking school to learn not merely elaborate dishes but also basic-cooking techniques. Thousands are picking up such practical pointers as:

—To test the heat of an omelet pan, apply a wet finger to the side of the pan. It is hot enough if you get a vibrant sizzle. But if the butter you drop in turns brown, it is too hot. Discard the butter and wave the pan to cool it.

—Stock is still the base of many delicious soups, stews, and fish dishes, even if modern stoves have eliminated the old-fashioned stock pot which simmers for days. Collect bones, meat leftovers, and vegetable tops. When enough have accumulated, simmer them and freeze the resultant stock. Fish stock can be made in 30 minutes because the bones are gelatinous and disintegrate quickly, but chicken bones take two hours and veal, six to 12.

—The experienced chef measures cooking wine by glugs—one slug to the ounce. Wines should cook long, especially the reds, to bring out their full flavor. But sherry should be added at the last minute.

—To get the most flavor out of a sauce, reduce it by long simmering. But undercook (by U.S. standards) vegetables as the Orientals do for maximum flavor, nutrition, and appearance.

The new enthusiasm for cookery is a result of several factors. First, only 6% of U.S. families today can afford a cook. Also, there is a shortage of good cooks, both private and restaurant, due to tightened immigration laws that bar foreigners, and the social stigma that discourages natives.

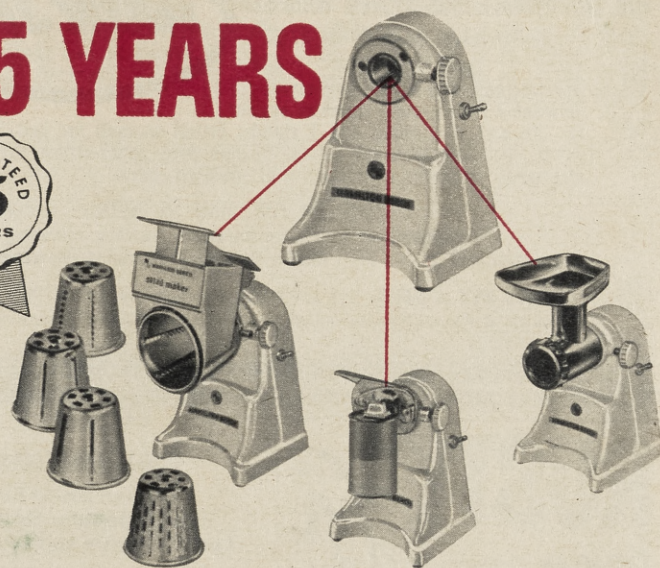

MEANWHILE, travel and expense-account living are exposing millions to good food and its happy effect on the spirits, and many are also finding that cooking is absorbing and relaxing when they know how to do it well. As a result, instruction in classic-cooking techniques and the preparation of classic dishes are beginning to take a real hold in the U.S. As Dione Lucas says: "Food in this country is on its way to becoming as important as it is in France."

Proof of the pudding—the cooking class tries the dish after seeing and studying the way it is done.

Table Scraps Can Short-Change Your Dog

Do right by the dog
you love...balance each meal with
GRO-PUP Ribbon

When you feed your dog table scraps, you can never be sure he's getting all the nutrients he needs. And yet, to stay fit and strong, he should have a well-balanced diet every day.

That's why thoughtful families are adding Gro-Pup Ribbon to every scrap meal they feed. Gro-Pup is an unusual kind of dog food. It contains an extra bonus of vital protein, important vitamins and minerals—far in excess of the minimum levels set by the National Research Council.

Even when fed with large amounts of "unbalanced" leftovers, the high nutrient level of Gro-Pup can safeguard against improper diet. When you feed Gro-Pup every day, you can enjoy the confidence that your dog is getting an abundance of the essentials he needs for a long and healthy life.

Why don't you start tomorrow?

Arbors For All

Carefree "summer houses" made of vines and lattice, they add a new dimension to outdoor living

BY JOHN BRIMER

AN ARBOR MAY BE a pleasant, shady framework with ripening grapes overhead, a trellis of climbing roses, or simply an attractive display of architectural woodwork. In any of its shapes and sizes, it adds a new dimension to your home and life. It is a secluded bower for hot summer afternoons, a pattern of light and shade in the evening, an open-air dining room for every meal.

There are many types of vines to knit around an arbor. Fragrant wistaria—pink, white, or lavender—will grow to gargantuan proportions. The bittersweet vine produces brilliant orange pods in autumn. White lacelike clematis is a daintier climber, as are the perennial sweet pea and the delicate canary-bird flower.

The classic grape arbor offers the sensuous smell of grapes late in the summer, and the taste of them if you want to reach out and pluck desert off the vine. On lower fence arbors, tomatoes and cucumbers provide beauty and food.

There is nothing lovelier than the massive climbing rose. Today there is such a dazzling choice among tall and medium growers with such a splendid assortment of colors and blossoms that nearly every kind of arbor can be magnificently outfitted. The everblooming climbers—the Dream Girl, Summer Snow, and American Pillar—are so enthusiastic that they flower not only in June but throughout the season.

If you're putting up an arbor this summer and want quick, showy shade, there is an endless variety of annuals which offer both shade and flowers. Planted each year, their quick-growing leaves and masses of flowers last through the season. Then you pull them up and discard them, to let the winter sun shine in on terrace and house. One of the best growers is the morning-glory with its cheerful sky-blue, red, or white blossoms. It opens with the morning sun and lasts till noon.

IF YOU WANT round-the-clock blooms, you can plant Heavenly Blue or Blue Star morning-glories alternately with Moonflower Vine. The moonflower blooms at night, and its delicate white flowers give off a fragrance that makes sitting out in the evening unforgettable. Late in the season the moonflower and morning-glory blossoms overlap—the moonflower lasting through the early-morning hours and the morning-glory lasting late into the afternoon. Behind the blooms there is always the thick mat of leaves.

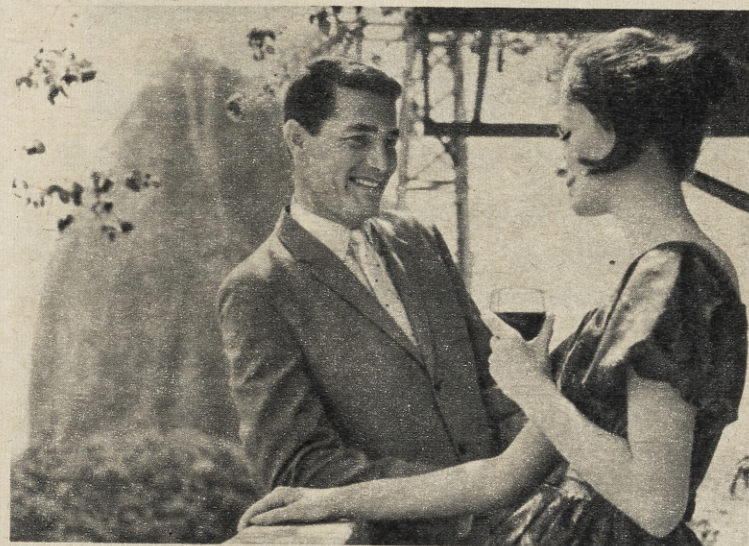

An arbor can provide shelter overhead, or it can screen you so you get privacy in a sitting-out spot. A freestanding latticed trellis, for instance, screens the terrace from neighbors and the street in a friendly, decorative way without interfering with ventilation as a solid fence might. Or an arbor may be used as a gateway to frame the view architecturally or horticulturally.

A FEW CAUTIONS should be observed by the homeowner whether he is a do-it-yourselfer or planning to hire a carpenter to build his arbor.

To begin with, an arbor must be tailored to accommodate the choice of vine. A wistaria, for example, needs a large, sturdy framework—its wood will become very heavy after a few years' growth. Some people adapt old telephone poles as posts under the more massive wistarias. Even morning-glories and moonflowers become heavy with a full season's growth. But clematis and other delicate species need only a skeleton trellis.

Posts should be deeply set in—18 to 24 inches below the ground—treated with wood preservative, and embedded in heavy concrete footings if the soil is sandy or the wind blows hard. Cross-bars should be sturdy, but not overpowering. Their size varies according to the arbor and to the kind of vine. A quiet, simple crossbar design is preferable to a nervous pattern that only distracts from the beauty of the leaves and flowers it supports. Enough open space must be left so that vines can interlace easily between bars. If you want a roof on your arbor, a snow fence can be adapted as a handsome cover.

You have a wide variety of designs to choose from and a large selection of vines and flowers. Plan your arbor so it will do the most for your house and your way of living, choose the vine you like best, and then sit back and enjoy it.

MAKE MINE

DIMINUTIVE!

BY JOE E. BROWN

A great entertainer tells what the Pony League means

I'M A BASEBALL FAN from way back. In between one-night vaudeville stands when I was still a kid, I somehow managed to play the game and was a $2 per game semipro at fifteen—that is, until I was permanently benched in 1910 when I broke a leg while playing second base for St.

Paul in the American Association.

Since then, I've been what you might call a "very interested spectator." I even owned part of the Kansas City Blues in 1931. Boy, I remember how I hated to see holiday double-headers then... I knew we'd always lose two games.

Mower fun...

25" Riding Mower.

to him—and to the 100,000 boys on the teams

In 1953, when I was working as a broadcaster for the New York Yankees, I was asked to become president of the newly organized PONY League. PONY stands for Protect Our Nation's Youth. It was started in Washington, Pennsylvania, by Lew Hays, who had helped start the Little League.

The idea is to give boys of 13 and 14 a chance to play some kind of organized ball, using a smaller-than-regulation diamond and equipment suited to their age and physical limitations. The Little League diamond is 60' between bases. In the Pony League the boys play on a 75' diamond, which they can easily handle.

Well, I'm proud to say I'm still the president, and this summer we'll have 100,000 boys playing ball in the League on fully uniformed teams in towns all over the country, with the PONY World Series climaxing the season. We're a going concern—the kind boys like to be associated with, and so do I.

I NEVER MISS a game if I can help it, but it's what you might call the fringe benefits of the League that mean the most to me. Over the years I have seen how the chance to play ball has given a rugged purpose to kids who might otherwise not have known what to do with themselves. There was a time, as I well remember, when a boy had no doubts about his place in the world. Splitting kindling, dumping ashes, and running errands were among the many necessary operations that ran largely on boy-power, but today such chores are out of date or handled by machine. In a sense, a community has not as much use for a boy as it once did. To be on his town's Pony squad gives a boy the recognition he needs and teaches him the right way to earn it, too, because baseball is a game that can be played only one way. It takes hard work and sportsmanship.

There is also hard work for the families and neighbors who have to organize and maintain a team, but it helps bring people together.

"We get as much out of it as our son does," a Santa Monica father once told me. "It gives us a common bond and a sense of belonging."

A GOOD FRIEND of mine, comic Jerry Lewis, is proud as a peacock about his oldest son Gary who is the leading hitter and star shortstop on the Beverly Hills Pony League team.

Jerry gets out to as many games as he can and has even signed a $1 per year scouting pact with Chicago White Sox president, Bill Veeck, to assure the major league of his son's future services.

"The pay isn't much," Jerry admits, "but wait till they get my expense account!"

I love a good ball game, but I hope I've been able to make it plain why, for me, there's more than that to the Pony League. And gosh, you get the ball game, too!

Get Set BEFORE You Go

study—you won't get them free over there anyhow) and a good navigator (families can decide who will do the best job). Don't, don't, don't count on members of the local constabulary to speak English. It seems to be almost a requirement for their employment that they don't! Incidentally, one of the happiest by-products of this mode of travel is the chance it offers to have at least one meal a day on the road, picnic-style—which is cost-, calorie-, and digestion-saving.

Keeping The Homes Fires Banked.

Aside from stopping the milk and all those other cartoon subjects, there are quite a few musts if you expect a happy home-coming. If your house is to be occupied, leave a list of all service and professional people and where things are, such as the thermostat, extra blankets, etc. If the house is not rented, arrange for someone to have a key and to look at your mail, notify your friendly local police force to check the premises regularly (even if it means an extra ticket to the ball or the fireworks display), and see that a responsible person has a copy of your itinerary. The American Express offices are numerous and good for mailing addresses, as are top hotels in various cities, whether you stay there or not. Weather permitting, you would do well to turn off the master electric switch. And don't forget to make reservations for Rex and Tabby at the local kennel some time ahead, as you can bet other travelers are pet owners, too.

Have you a will and a record of where your important papers are? The answer should be "yes," whether you're at home or abroad.

How Heavy Is 44 Pounds? Plenty heavy, if you have to carry it—and you will on occasion—which is why the airline minimum is fair enough, no matter how you go. Even if you can find a porter, the less you carry the better; one of the surest sources of travel ulcers is luggage handling—feeling dependent, then feeling overcharged, then feeling hacked at fighting about it. You can get a weight check by balancing the bag with your fingertips on the bathroom scales.

One way to keep from forgetting what you're taking along is to devote a room, or at least a closet, exclusively to packing and your travel wardrobe. And a good rule in packing is: When in doubt, don't!

Cash, Credit, And Conversion:

There's no need to change money at home, except for a small quantity of the currency of your first-stop country. Best friend overseas is a wallet full of credit cards. They won't get you everywhere and everything—as at home—but they are wonderful for expensive purchases and for the better hotels and restaurants. Best of all overseas is American Express; you can charge at their listed places, and you can use your card in the American Express offices themselves, for such items as air and rail travel, guided tours and car rentals.

Carry a flock of personal checks; in France you can use them to buy at a discount from prices you would pay if you used cash, and elsewhere they are often easier to use than at home. And, obviously, carry the bulk of your funds in travelers' checks instead of coin of any realm.

Do You Have To Know The Language? No—but it certainly helps.

However, unless you're really good at a country's language, better not try to spout it. Your safest interpreter is still that little old phrase book—as much a joke as it has been. It certainly came in handy for us, for instance, to be able to point to the words, "My auto won't start," one Sunday morning in a small town, where our car stopped dead in the middle of the street at a traffic light and we got only bewildered headshakes or irritated horn blasts when we spoke our mother tongue.

Who Says It's A Bargain? If you're going to Europe just to shop, you'd do better to stay at home. The truth is, with our smart import buyers and discount houses, you can find almost everything just as inexpensively here and not have to lug it all over Europe.

Among the few exceptions are French perfume, the liquor of the country, real objets d'art, and good Swiss timepieces.

If you feel that you must bring home foreign gifts—if for no other reason than being able to say casually, "This came from Edinburgh—" buy them from good specialty stores. Enquire about outlets for handwork, cottage industries, and work done by the blind. They often have unusual and lovely things.

You're Off! Get to the airport or pier well before time. (You will find it is even more important, when in unfamiliar European situations, to be ahead of time for all departures.) The timetables aren't kidding when they try to get you there early. They know more about big-city traffic than you may—and, besides, there's lots to do over and above the bon voyage gaiety. Travelers' insurance, for instance . . . and have you some money changed and ready for porters' tips and the first taxi ride in the country of your arrival? Don't neglect the opportunity you have only once to buy tax-free U.S. liquor and cigarettes to be delivered to your plane or boat.

Of course, if you speak French, Italian, German, and Spanish fluently—have all your reservations made (and paid for) through a reliable agent like Cook's or American Express—have intelligent and hospitable friends scattered conveniently around Europe—are leaving the house and children in Grandmother's capable care—you didn't need to read this article. You're set! (But don't cut the time too close, getting to that boat or plane!)
